

NAVAL BASE, AIR DEPOT AT MANILA AFLAME AFTER MERCILESS ATTACK

City Defense Corps Formed; Blackout Planned Next Week

Committee Will Be Named To Co-operate in Launching Enlistment Campaign

Immediate organization of an Atlanta Emergency Defense Corps, dedicated solely to the protection of the lives and properties of Atlantans, was announced as underway yesterday by Mayor LeCraw. He added Atlanta will have a trial blackout probably next week.

Councilman James E. Jackson

Jr., will be commander and a committee of three other councilmen will be named today by the mayor to co-operate in launching the enlistment drive for an armed protection unit, auxiliary

police and firemen, air raid

and all other services required by the federal government in regular county defense units.

Co-operation Promised.

Acting under an ordinance already passed by council, LeCraw and Jackson yesterday conferred with Colonel Lindley Camp, commander of the State Defense

Corps, who promised every cooperation and who pointed out to the mayor the vital necessity for protecting Atlanta, "the most strategic distribution center in the entire south."

Under preliminary plans outlined by LeCraw and Jackson, the 20 Atlanta fire stations will be used as sub-stations for the various units, with general headquarters in the city hall in a conference room adjacent to the mayor's office.

City police and firemen, who already have attended schools operated by the government, will act as instructors, training the personnel which will enlist for service in Atlanta only. The auditorium will be available for night drills.

Red Cross leaders will be asked to give instruction in those branches, and a complete defense service will be established.

Camp promised 50 rifles to the armed unit immediately, and said the state and federal governments

City Defense Serious

LeCraw said he has noticed some duplication of effort, and that he believes Atlanta is not now ready for all-out defense in the event of an emergency.

In making the announcement,

Mayor LeCraw said:

"The defense of this city is something we must take seriously.

The government has placed that responsibility on the executives of cities and their populace. We must not dilly dally, or procrastinate. The time is short, or at least it may be. If an emergency never comes, and we all hope it does not, we will not have lost anything. If it does come, we shall be ready."

State Defense Corps Ordered To Active Duty

Army Units Relieved of Guarding Vital Georgia Points.

By WILLARD COPE.

The Army yesterday had placed on active duty by gubernatorial proclamation, while an undisclosed number of units—known to be a substantial part of the total corps personnel—moved to secret

destinations throughout the state described only as "sen-

Colonel Lindley Camp, ordered to active service as corps commander, instructed all corpsmen not given specific orders to "stand by" for instructions.

Movements of the troops to points of duty frankly admitted to range from Rabun Gap to Tybee

Light was begun Tuesday night

as orders were flashed from Colonel Camp's office after a lengthy series of conferences with high

Army officers.

The Corps Coastal Guard Patrol was put on 24-hour duty to carry

enant Colonel Bernard Caster, commanding the Savannah Army

Air Base. Planes of the patrol, which held maneuvers two weeks ago in preparation for emergency, are manned by pilots living along the coast.

From an organizational standpoint the State Defense Corps will

office of Brigadier General O. N.

Bradley, district commander, at Fort Benning, who requested the Corps being placed in active status.

Soon after issuing the proclamation, the Governor ordered $50,000

NO PUSHOVER—Walking through the Philippines isn't exactly like walking across a carpet, as this photo will bear witness. Mountainous terrain like this in northern

Repulse Survivor Walked Down To Sea as on Sloping Sidewalk

Newsman Saw Prince of Wales Attacked and Sunk.

By O. D. GALLAGHER.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 11.—(Thursday)—(INS)—I was aboard the Repulse yesterday when the battle cruiser and the battleship

Prince of Wales were wiped out.

I saw the Prince of Wales attacked. I saw her sink. When the Repulse was attacked, I made my way with an orderly and with scores of sailors from the flag deck to the ship's side which by now was at such an angle that I was able to walk down to the sea, as though down a sloping sidewalk.

Every man and officer aboard both doomed warships behaved as

and calmly in the midst of a frantic and wholesale death.

(Editor's note: The exact manner in which the Prince of Wales and Repulse were sunk—whether by bombers or submarines—had apparently been deleted from this dispatch by the British censor.)

With many sailors and officers,

I made my way down the slanting side of the mortally wounded

truding anti-torpedo "blister"

(bulkhead) into a warm sea.

The physical hell created by the Japanese attack was matched by a psychological hell. As I plopped into the waves of the South China

Sea, my mind was filled with tales

I had read as a boy of maneating sharks infesting those waters.

But it transpired that as we survivors flailed around, waiting for someone to pick us up, not a single man was attacked by a shark.

I nearly died in the fuel oil which covered the sea as I swam about desperately. The fumes almost poisoned me.

After a while I had to give up trying to swim away from that scene of horror I shall never forget. I was barely able to keep myself afloat. I could no longer see the others who had jumped in with me.

There was a Centurion, too, or officer over the soldiers, who came to him and said, "Lord! My servant lies at home in my house, very ill." Jesus Christ made answer, "I will come and cure him."

But the Centurion said, "Lord! I am not worthy that Thou shouldst come to my house. Say the word only, and I know he will be cured." Then Jesus Christ, glad that the Centurion believed in Him so truly, said, "Be it so!" And the servant became well, from that moment.

But of all the people who came to Him none was so full of grief and distress as one man who was a ruler or magistrate over many people, and he wrung his hands, and cried, and said, "Oh, Lord, my daughter—my beautiful, good, innocent little girl, is dead. Oh, come to her, come to her, and lay over me and I would have perished, except for the fact that a naval rescue ship sighted me and a petty officer jumped overboard and roped me aboard his boat. He was Eric Monaghan, of Edinburgh,

the British navy's youngest petty officer.

Along with the other survivors,

I was brought back to Singapore.

As I write this dispatch I am trying to recover from terrible fatigue, as are the others who were rescued.

Cecil Brown, of the Columbia

Broadcasting System, was rescued

today after the sinking of the British battle cruiser Repulse, on which he had embarked as a correspondent.

U. S. Bans Tire Sales To Halt Wave of Buying

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—

The government tonight banned

the sale of any new automobile

tires to the public until December

22 to stop "a consumers' buying wave."

The order, effective tomorrow, was issued by Donald M. Nelson, priorities director, on the recommendation of the OPM's civilian supply division. "Severe penalties," the OPM said, are provided for violation of the order.

"The prohibition means," the announcement explained, "that no new automobile, truck, bus, or motorcycle, farm implement or other type of tire or tube may be sold by anyone—including tire stores both wholesale and retail;

filling stations, automobile dealers or any others—except on preference rating orders of A-3 or higher.

"The restriction, however, does not apply to the sale of used tires and tubes, retreaded tires, or to the sale of tires and tubes furnished with new or used automo-

"Although the prohibition on

cember 22, a more permanent

Capital Hums With War Activity; One Senator Blocks F.D.R. Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—This capital took the bad news with the good today, as President Roosevelt last night cautioned it that it must, and set about the routine of activity in the capital of a nation at war.

Secretary Morgenthau called in congressional leaders to discuss the question of higher taxes. The house passed a bill giving the Navy authority to purge the merchant marine of subversive radio operators.

And there were other things: Four of the famous Japanese cherry trees were chopped down in Potomac park during last night's semi-blackout here. Park authorities called it vandalism, not patriotism. SPAB ordered a 75 per cent reduction in the manufacture of coin-operated gambling machines and juke boxes because the metal is needed for the war industries.

Tense Scene.

There was a tense little scene in the senate, with one of that chamber's leading isolationists temporarily blocking a bill which the administration considers necessary to the war effort. Hiram Johnson of California, said "No" and forced the postponement of the passage of a measure which would permit the Army to send its draftees, reserves and others outside the western hemisphere.

He told the senate he wanted to "keep the President's promises." These he explained as pledges given "again and again" by Mr. Roosevelt that Americans would not be required to "fight on foreign soil."

A colleague asked whether the Japanese attacks was not sufficient to justify a change. Johnson replied:

"No, I don't think so. But if it be sufficient, there is time to determine that. We don't need to run it through in a quarter of a day."

Passage Expected.

The parliamentary situation was such that unanimous consent was necessary for the consideration of the bill. Its passage under other circumstances was expected later.

To all outward appearances, the capital swallowed its disappointment that President Roosevelt gave no additional details of Sunday's debacle at Pearl Harbor. Chairman Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, of the Senate Naval Committee, said that the President must be the judge of what information should be given to the public, and that he was satisfied.

At the White House, it was said, "without exception, they show a complete unanimity," said Stephen Early, the President's secretary.

Fulton, DeKalb
Receive 21st
Selective Call

283 White Men, 102
Negroes. Summoned
for January 5-16.

Fulton and DeKalb counties will furnish 283 white men and 102 Negroes in the state's 21st draft call for 1,414 white men and 603 Negroes to be inducted into the Army January 5 and 16, selective service officials announced yesterday.

Seventeen boards in Fulton will send 229 white men and 96 Negroes, while DeKalb county's three boards have been asked 54 white men and 6 Negroes. White men will go to Fort McPherson for induction and Negroes will be inducted at Fort Benning.

The 21st call will be inducted according to schedule, although selective service officials have received orders to induct the remainder of Georgians in class "1-A" immediately, regardless of quotas.

Local quotas being mailed this week are:

1,000 Heavy Bombers Monthly New Goal of U. S. Industry

'Work or Fight' Plan Approved By OPM Chief

168-Hour Week Must Be Adopted Immediately, Knudsen Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—William S. Knudsen put himself on record for a "work or fight" program for American industry today and declared that production of heavy four-engined bombers would be boosted to 1,000 a month, twice the present goal.

The OPM chief told a press conference that the 168-hour, 7-day work week urged by President Roosevelt last night, must go into effect as rapidly as possible in five more industries.

Guns, planes, tanks, ammunition and shipbuilding were the five fields he named.

Told that appeals by the War Department and the President had previously failed to bring about the 168-hour week and asked what further step could be taken to achieve it, Knudsen said:

"I think the Japs have done it for us."

He added that construction of new plant facilities was essential for heavy, long-range bombers and for the production of TNT and powder.

New bomber plants, Knudsen said, would be located far inland, out of range of Axis raiders, instead of being concentrated, as most of them are now, along the Atlantic and Pacific shores.

At the present time, he said, there appears to be sufficient skilled labor to go on the 168-hour week.

Asked whether he thought it might become necessary to conscript labor, he first passed the question off with a pleasantry. It was repeated, and he replied gravely:

"Do you mean 'work or fight?'

Good, I am for it."

Knudsen indicated in the discussion that he believed the 168-hour week could be accomplished in the five industries named by a "swing-shift" arrangement without increasing the hours of individual workers for the time being.

Knudsen stated that new curtailments in passenger automobile production for December and January have been ordered by the Office of Price Administration.

Decatur Man Explains Japs' Invasion Plan

Appari Logical Point, Says Former Resident of Islands.

Appari, located on the most northerly point of the Island of Luzon, reported captured yesterday afternoon by Japanese troops, is the logical starting point for an effort against Manila, according to a former resident, H. Mozen, now of Decatur, who served on the island with the Sixteenth U. S. Infantry.

"Appari is at the mouth of the Cagayan river," he pointed out, "and has deep water to within 200 feet of the shore. The Cagayan river is navigable for a considerable distance, running through a flat, fertile country, probably to Iligan."

"From Iligan, an invading army, living off the productive countryside, would be able, without much mountain travel, to reach Baguio, the summer capital of the Philippines. Baguio is on the only railroad running to Manila."

"Thus the strategy of the descent on Appari, as well as Vigan, on the eastern end of the Island of Luzon, is quite clear. Everyone familiar with the country has expected this move."

Mrs. Dobbs' Rites To Be Held Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth Mixon Dobbs, 72, wife of Samuel Candler Dobbs, Atlanta capitalist, who died Tuesday after a three months' illness, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill.

Dr. Lester Rumble and the Rev. W. G. Henry will officiate. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

A graduate of LaGrange College, Mrs. Dobbs was active for many years in behalf of the Tallulah Fall School for Girls.

Final Steamer Service To Europe Discontinued

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The last American steamship service to Europe, the American Export Lines' New York-Lisbon run, has been discontinued, the company said today.

Lisbon is the steamship outlet for Americans and refugees fleeing Europe.

Advises from Lisbon said Portuguese and Spanish ships would continue to make unscheduled voyages to bring refugees here.

set up in the state budget for the purpose.

Relief of Army detachments by corpsmen was accomplished throughout the state in one hour and 55 minutes. Actual transfer of duty was begun at 2 o'clock and completed five minutes before the proclamation was made public at 4 o'clock.

The proclamation, signed by the Governor, pointed out, significantly:

"For military reasons I do not deem it expedient to name the points suggested as sensitive and vital by officers of the United States Army."

It was emphasized by Colonel Camp that the flood of requests to his office for guards must be initiated at the Fort Benning office of General Bradley.

The corps' first function, it was understood, is to relieve Army units doing special guard duty at vital points. One location permitted to be revealed is the Atlanta Municipal Airport where 103 Army troops have been on duty at 15 specific posts. Other locations included isolated points not more particularly describable.

Camp's Statement. Colonel Camp, in his first public declaration, said:

"I regret, like all other Georgians, the necessity of this move, but I am proud that the State Defense Corps of Georgia is leading the procession of states into active service of their country."

"To the men of the corps I want to say that we are prepared to perform every duty required of us and that I have no doubt as to the manner in which members of the corps will conduct themselves."

"Naturally, we can give little information as to our movements. All requests for the corps' specific disposition must be directed to the office of General Bradley at Fort Benning. This is necessary to co-ordinate activity directed to assure the greatest degree of safety for our state."

Information supplied by Major Oren Warren, adjutant, revealed that the corps consists of 251 units in 139 counties, comprising 4,945 enlisted men and 612 officers.

Much of the personnel consists of former service men. Each will receive the pay and allowances of National Guardsmen of equivalent rank, as fixed by statute, upon responding to specific orders.

UNITS ASKED TO OPEN ENLISTMENT OFFICES. All local units of the Georgia Council for National Defense were requested yesterday to open offices for enrollment of volunteers for civilian defense work.

Instructions mailed from state headquarters said the most important immediate tasks were:

1. Educating the public to the need of defense.

2. Protecting the civilian population.

Establishment of speakers' bureaus and frequent addresses at schools, churches, and civil meetings were recommended as part of the educational program.

M. W. Watson Talks at Parley Of Contractors

Group Told To Prepare for New Defense Demands.

One hundred members of the Georgia branch of the Associated General Contractors of America last night heard from the national President that, although they had performed prodigious efforts in the defense program so far, they will be called upon in the future to perform even more Herculean labors.

The coming of war, M. W. Watson, national president, said at the annual meeting of the Georgia organization at the Atlanta Athletic Club, means that government building of cantonments, slowed to a crawl today, will immediately boom again.

Plans for at least 20 huge new cantonments have been drawn from the files, surveys are being made, and construction will no doubt begin full blast soon, as a relatively small "defense" army is expanded to a full-blown "victory" force.

These cantonments, he said, will be scattered throughout the country but a majority of them will be located in the states with the most pleasant climate, the south.

Watson, whose home is in Topeka, also told his hearers that the future of private building was not so easily foreseen with priorities clamping tight on all materials except those to be used in construction definitely tied in with national defense or the health and safety of the public.

He called upon them to be prepared to serve in a way they probably never anticipated—the clearing away of civil wreckage in cities attacked from the sky.

Arthur Pew is president of the Georgia branch.

U. S. Acquired Philippines in One-Sided War

Were Ceded by Spain 43 Years Ago Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Philippine Islands, which Americans are now fighting to hold, were ceded to the United States by Spain just 43 years ago today after a brief and fantastically one-sided war.

The colossal scale and fury of the far-flung Pacific war raging on the anniversary of the acquisition of the archipelago makes the battle for its possession in 1898 seem in retrospect like some schoolboy dream of gallant victory quickly won.

It was late in April, 1898, that this country's war with Spain began, and it was all over but the shouting before the middle of August. Dewey's smashing victory over the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay was a one-day battle and he lost not a man killed.

Capture or Destroy. "War has commenced between the United States and Spain," the then Secretary of War John D. Long cabled Commodore Dewey at Hong Kong. "Proceed at once to the Philippine Islands. Commence operations particularly against the Spanish fleet. You must capture vessels or destroy."

On the night of the 30th of April Dewey's squadron steamed into Manila Bay, scoring mines and fortifications and ignoring shots from the Spanish shore batteries.

Next morning the battle began at 5:40, before breakfast, both sides using brown powder ammunition. It continued until 7:35, then, after a pause, from 11:16 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., when the Spanish flag on the government buildings at Cavite was hauled down and the crippled Spanish warships withdrew, some of them burning.

Dewey thoughtfully gave his

REMEMBER Pearl Harbor! OPM Captions Press Releases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—America's slogan in '98 was:

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

Tonight the slogan for '41 promised to become:

"REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR."

The Office of Production Management advanced this slogan. All press releases issued by the OPM, key defense organization in production of the nation's material and equipment for war, bore the caption:

"REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR."

officers and men time out for breakfast, since they had had only a cup of coffee before the battle. After the hearty meal the Spanish ships which were not already burned were sunk.

U. S. Casualties: None. The American casualties were: None killed, 7 slightly wounded. On the Spanish side were 381 killed and wounded.

The war did not last long after that. A peace protocol was signed August 12, and on December 10 the treaty of Paris between the United States and Spain gave the Philippines, Guam and Puerto Rico to the United States, the latter agreeing to pay $20,000,000 for the Far-Eastern archipelago.

Dewey's spectacular victory was enthusiastically acclaimed in the United States and congress later made him an admiral for life; but acquisition of the islands marked the beginning of a long-drawn-out controversy over whether they were worth keeping and whether they were worth defending.

That controversy was drowned in the waters of Pearl Harbor last Sunday.

Today the sons are fighting desperately to defend against a fanatical foe that their fathers won in a whirlwind fight against an easy-going enemy.

F. D. R. Sure Of Victory in Note to Chiang

Sees Complete Elimination of Lawless Enemy Forces.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today sent a message of confidence in the outcome of the war to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, of China.

The message, made public by the State Department, said: "Japan first treacherously attacked and then declared war upon the United States. The congress has declared the existence of a state of war between the United States and Japan."

"In the valiant struggle of resistance which China has carried on for four and one-half years against the invading forces of a predatory neighbor, China has been made aware of this country's sympathy in principle and in practice. China is now being joined in her resistance to aggression by a host of other nations that have been menaced by Japan and the movement of conquest in which Japan is a major participant."

"The struggle can not be easily or quickly brought to a successful end. It will demand of all who are entering it, as it has demanded and will demand of you and your courageous people, concentrated effort and intensive devotion to the common cause of vanquishing the enemy and thereafter establishing a just peace."

"I take pride in my country's association with you and the great nation which you lead. I am wholly confident that the struggle in which we are engaged in common with other gallant nations will forge stronger the bonds of traditional friendships and will result inevitably in complete elimination of the lawless forces against which your effort, our effort, and the efforts of our associates are now individually and collectively directed."

Blood Is Needed For Blaze Victim

Mrs. Nell H. Collins, 65, of 1224 North Highland avenue, N.E., was critically burned yesterday when the bathrobe she was wearing caught fire at a heater, police reported.

Mrs. Collins attempted to beat out flames and then, becoming panic-stricken, ran out the back door of her home in an attempt to reach the home of her sister, Mrs. Edna Flynn, who lives in the rear.

Neighbors and members of the family beat out the flames. Mrs. Collins was admitted to Grady hospital, where doctors said donors are needed daily to supply blood plasma.

Mrs. W. H. Varner, 28, Found Shot to Death

Mrs. W. H. Varner, 28, was found shot to death last night in a bedroom of her home at 1062 Dickson place, N.E. Radio Patrolman T. F. Strubling and J. F. Preston reported.

The patrolmen reported occupants of the house, including the woman's husband, heard a shot, ran into the room and found Mrs. Varner on the floor, a 41-caliber derringer pistol near by. A Grady hospital doctor pronounced her dead.

The body was taken to the mortuary of Henry M. Blanchard.

Will Fingerprint Airport Workers Board Members Named by League

Captain Ben Seabrook, head of the identification bureau of the Atlanta police department, will lead a fingerprint squad today in taking fingerprints of all employees at the municipal airport.

After a conference with Mayor LeCraw and Stafford W. Graydon, city personnel director, it was decided that three super-numeraries will be detailed to take the records and that two stenographic assistants will be assigned.

City authorities agreed to cooperate as fully as possible with federal agencies in making all records needed at the airport and said they would attempt to give further assistance in the interests of national security, to discontinue at once broadcasting of plain language weather information and reports.

The order affects 157 broadcasting stations, 15 oil company radio stations and 10 commercial traffic radio stations in Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Alabama and western Florida.

Nick G. Azar, president of the Young Men's Syrian Association, yesterday announced his organization had purchased $2,500 worth of defense savings bonds as a contribution to national defense.

Weather Broadcasting Discontinuance Sought

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—All commercial broadcasting and traffic and oil company radio stations in the Eighth Naval District today were requested in the interests of national security, to discontinue at once broadcasting of plain language weather information and reports.

The order affects 157 broadcasting stations, 15 oil company radio stations and 10 commercial traffic radio stations in Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Alabama and western Florida.

Syrian Association Buys Defense Bonds

Nick G. Azar, president of the Young Men's Syrian Association, yesterday announced his organization had purchased $2,500 worth of defense savings bonds as a contribution to national defense.

The decision was announced in "Navy Department communiqué No. 1."

"The Navy Department announces that instruction had been issued that the remains of naval personnel, including Coast Guard and Marine Corps, lost in action be interred temporarily in the localities in which they lost their lives. The procedure is necessitated by the difficulties of ocean transport in war. They will be buried with full military honors."

Theater Guild's Comedy Drama Scores a Hit

'George Washington Slept Here' Wins Praise.

By LEE ROGERS.
George Washington did some sleeping a century and a fraction ago to give a basis for Moss Hart and George Kaufman's Broadway satire success but there wasn't any sleeping at the Woman's Club auditorium last night where the Atlanta Theater Guild presented "George Washington Slept Here" in manner that had a large crowd rolling back with laughter throughout three acts.

It was the second major production of the year under the Guild's new policy of presenting only recent Broadway hits, and it bore out the wisdom of presenting comedies for amateur theatricals.

Directed by Dr. Frank L. Belue, the play was entertaining throughout, showing a definite improvement in the work of this group who are endeavoring to keep alive the amateur stage for its cultural benefits to Atlanta. Its action, direction and staging deserve commendation. "George Washington Slept Here" will be presented again at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Woman's club.

Special attention was merited by the acting of Sydney F. Owen, as the timid Milquetoast urbanite who buys a rattling old house which, legend has it, housed Washington once one night. Maureen Beall as the exasperated wife who'd much prefer doing without her communion with nature, was excellent.

Also appearing in the cast were A. Edwin Macon, Mary Jane Thwaitt, Bill Smith, Helen Price, Christine Carmichael, Bill Hirsch, Sara Sue Robinson (who drew good applause from the audience), Julia Sewell, George T. Bush, James Gould, John Pickard, Joe Reeves, Charlotte Downing, Betty Taylor and Dr. Belyeu. Scenery designed by Macon, lighting and sound by Smith.

Man Dies in Crash, Companion Sought

George Crowell, 25, of East Point, was killed, and another man, apparently unhurt, fled last night when the car in which they were riding crashed into the southbound "Dixie Flyer" of the Central of Georgia railroad at the Lang avenue and Sylvan road crossing, police reported.

Crowell was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady hospital. The name of the man who fled the scene after the crash was not learned, police said. The automobile, a 1935 model sedan, was demolished. Cause of the crash was not determined, police added.

American Consul At Hanoi Seized

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The State Department announced tonight that O. Edmund Clubb, American consul at Hanoi, French Indo-China, had been arrested by Japanese military authorities.

Iris Johnston, a clerk at the consulate, was taken into custody at the same time, on the evening of December 7, it was said.

Both were described as safe and well. Clubb's home is in South St. Paul, Minn. The State Department had no information on Miss Johnston's home address.

The American consul at Manila reported tonight that his staff was all safe and well.

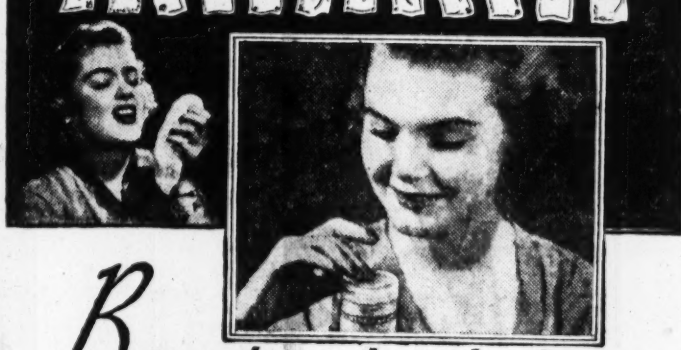

Floridan Found Dead On Tracks Near Bolton

The body of a man identified as Maxwell Bernard Hinson, 30, of Sneads, Fla., was found yesterday on tracks of the N. C. & St. L. railroad about a half-mile south of Bolton, Fulton county police reported.

Patrolmen E. W. Wilson and Ellis Barrett Jr. said the man either fell from a train or was struck by a train. An inquest will be held today at the mortuary of Harry G. Poole.

Hitler's Puppet Congress Will Convene Today

Rome Says U. S. Brought Italy and Germany Into War.

By The Associated Press.
Adolf Hitler's Reichstag was called to meet at 3 p.m. today (8 a.m., Atlanta time) to hear "a declaration by the German government."

It undoubtedly concerns the United States and the war in the Pacific.

In the fast-breaking zero hour developments leading up to the German radio announcement of the Reichstag meeting, both Berlin and Rome isolated themselves from communication with the United States.

Two previous—and devious—reports of the fateful Reichstag meeting reached the United States before the confirming announcement was heard on the German shortwave radio in New York.

Possible clue to the Axis position was seen in a statement of the Italian foreign office spokesman in Rome that Italy and Germany would adopt the attitude that the United States had brought them into the Japanese war. This conversation was reported by the Swiss news agency.

Clarke Farmers To Vote On Cotton Referendum

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 10.—Farmers of Clarke county will go to the polls Saturday to ballot for or against cotton marketing quotas for 1942, County Agent D. L. Branyon has announced.

Voting places will open at the county courthouse and at designated places outside the city at 9 a. m. and close at 5 p. m.

At the same polling places, at 10 o'clock, farmers will elect community AAA committeemen and alternates, and delegates to a county convention where the county AAA committee will be selected. The referendum managers will also be the election managers.

50,000 Women Are Wanted To Train for Nursing Duty

A recruiting campaign to help fill an urgent need for 50,000 student nurses over the nation has been started in the state by the Georgia Nurses' Association, Miss Durice Dickerson, executive secretary, announced yesterday.

Georgia high school and college graduates who apply would be assigned to one of the 14 training schools for white nurses and two for Negroes in the state. The next class begins in February.

Two Georgia hospitals, St. Joseph's hospital, at Savannah, and Macon City hospital, at Macon, already have started expansion of their nursing schools to take care of the additional enrollment.

Applications should be made to the Georgia Nurses' Association, 131 Forrest avenue, N. E., Atlanta.

Atlanta Woman Awaits News of Her Grandson

Horace Karr, Marine, Was Stationed on Wake Island.

While America waits for word from its government as to the fate of the nation's island stepping stones in the Pacific, a grandmother in Atlanta paces the floor worried over the fate of her grandson, whose last letter to her, written on November 17, was dated Midway Island.

She is Mrs. J. M. Bannister, of 570 Griffin street, N. W., and the grandson she worries about is Horace G. Karr, 18, a first class private in the Marines.

Private Karr's mother died when he was four years old and he has been reared by his grandmother.

President Roosevelt's reference to Midway Island in his address over the radio Tuesday night has added to the grandmother's worries.

Sitting at her radio, the grandmother heard the President say: "The reports from Guam and Wake and Midway Islands are still confused, but we must be prepared for the announcement that all these three outposts have been seized."

Mrs. Bannister recalled her last letter with a grip in her throat as she heard these words from the head of the government.

Private Karr, reared in Atlanta, attended Maddox Junior High School. He joined the Marines in July, 1939, going to Detroit for this step. He was home last Christmas and his grandmother had been expecting him on another visit this Christmas until she received the letter from the heart of the Pacific Ocean.

From Tokyo, the most recent dispatches have said that Midway Island has been shelled from the air, hangars and oil stores destroyed.

Other dispatches had said: "Midway has been effectively raided."

The President warned his hearers to be prepared for the news that the outpost has been seized. Mrs. Bannister is waiting every minute for any kind of word.

Three Families Learn Pacific Kin Are Safe

Welcome Word Received From Miss Touchton in Honolulu.

At least three Atlanta families yesterday had received the welcome word from friends and relatives in the Pacific war zone that they so far are safe.

Mrs. H. W. Irvin has heard from her son, H. L. Irvin, who, with his wife and daughter, was at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.

Mrs. Ralph M. Walker, 1272 Fairview road, learned yesterday that her daughter, Mrs. Tully T. Blalock, and her husband, Lieutenant (jg) Tully T. Blalock, of the Medical Department, USN, came safely through the bombardment at Pearl Harbor.

Judge Clarence Bell, of 3667 Peachtree road, has received word from Miss Margaret Touchton, a friend of his family. Miss Touchton, formerly with the Retail Credit Company here, is at Honolulu.

At Federal Offices

J. Ellis Mundy, first assistant to U. S. Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, is in New Orleans representing the government at the court of appeals hearing of J. G. (Bugs) Glover, former chief of state convict guards. Glover, convicted in federal court here of using the mails to defraud has appealed to the higher court. W. Paul Carpenter represents Glover.

Edwin F. Yancey Jr., 24, Atlanta lawyer, has assumed the duties of assistant probation officer to replace John Reed Turman, who is on a leave of absence for duty with the Army. Yancey, a graduate of Emory University, was associated with a local insurance company before his appointment by Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood to assist Probation Officer Edward Everett.

Open competitive examinations have been announced by the Civil Service Commission for the position of junior aircraft woodworker at Brookley Field, Mobile, which carries a salary of $1,680 to $2,040 a year.

A thing unprecedented in federal court history warned the hearts of attaches of the U. S. court here this week as they returned from the division term at Gainesville. The petit jurors serving at Gainesville asked Judge Robert L. Russell to incorporate in the court minutes a resolution which they passed commending the way the court was conducted and concluding with the statement that it tended to increase our belief in our democracy which this court upholds.

Court officials named in the resolution, the first of its kind ever recorded in federal court here, included Judge Russell, Assistant U. S. Attorneys James T. Manning and Pierre Howard, Clerks B. G. Nash and R. C. McClure, Chief Deputy Marshal Otis Camp and Assistants Light, Jackson, Fruet, Clark and Rogers and Probation Officers Edward B. Everett and Charles L. Turner.

New French-Jap Accord Reached

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Dec. 10.—(AP)—An announcement today confirming Japanese reports said a new French-Japanese accord had been reached to "adapt the means of defense of Indo-China to the new situation."

The statement said "This agreement takes into account the attitude of neutrality France intends to observe during the conflict in the Pacific."

GRANDMOTHER WORRIES—Private Horace G. Karr, once a student at Maddox Junior High School in Atlanta, is among the American soldiers whose fate is unknown after the Japanese attacks on Midway Island, where he is stationed.

JAPAN TOYS TABOO.

ROME, Ga., Dec. 10.—The "Made in Japan" label disappeared from the counters of one local store here this week following the declaration of war against Japan. The manager of the store kept his entire force busy emptying the toy racks and other display places following the action of congress.

Hull Summons Latin Republics to Study Joint Action

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The United States today called upon its good neighbors, the 20 other American republics, to consult on joint action for defense of the Western Hemisphere against the Axis.

Axis To 'Ignore' Minor Declarations of War

ROME, Dec. 10.—(P)—The Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, said today that Italy and Germany, like Japan, would ignore declarations of war by "minor Latin republics of Central America."

Seven Bomber Bases Planned By U. S. Army

Projects Expected To Cost $7,500,000 Each; Sites Are Selected.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(P)—The War Department today authorized construction of seven bombardment air bases, to cost approximately $7,500,000 each, near Syracuse, N. Y.; Richmond, Va.; Greenville, S. C.; Nashville, Tenn.; Walla Walla, Wash.; Rapid City, S. D.; and Columbus, Ohio.

About 450 officers and 4,000 enlisted men and 130 airplanes will be stationed at each base.

The department said the construction would vary somewhat, but that each base would include approximately 60 enlisted men's barracks, officers' quarters for 400 bachelor officers, six enlisted men's mess buildings, two or three hangars about 120 feet by 200 feet, and four concrete runways 150 feet by 6,000 feet.

The sites were chosen after surveys made by air corps site selection boards during the last five months. Construction will start on receipt by the corps of engineers of approved layouts which are being prepared in the office of the chief of the air corps.

The exact location of each of the bases was not indicated by the department.

Optimistic Report Made by REA Unit

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. DALTON, Ga., Dec. 10.—An increase of around 25 per cent in the amount of electricity delivered to customers of the North Georgia Electrical Membership Corporation, co-operative serving Whitfield, Catoosa, Murray, Walker, Floyd, Gordon, Chattooga and Dade counties, for the past 12 months over the previous year was announced today by William L. Manton, of Dalton, superintendent.

Mr. Manton also announced that the number of users of electricity served by the co-operative had now reached 6,000 customers, consuming a total of close to six million kilowatt hours monthly. The number of persons served by the project shows a gain of 20 per cent for the past year.

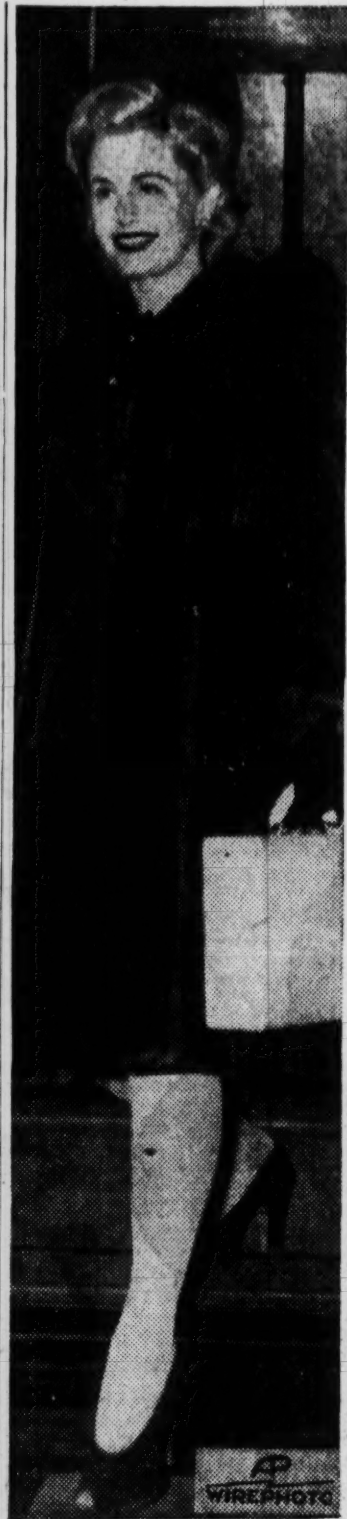

Roadside Improvement Gains Favor in Floyd

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. ROME, Ga., Dec. 10.—With applications already received from 32 land owners along the Kingston road desiring to participate in the roadside betterment program, leaders of the project were heartened by the response from the Floyd farmers.

County Agent G. F. Wiley has announced that no single person contacted so far has refused to co-operate in the plan to improve roadsides by the use of soil erosion and forestry practices.

Leaders of the Floyd County Roadside Betterment Association have declared the stretch of road within Floyd county between Rome and Kingston will be the first project undertaken in the program.

U. S. Exceeds Annual Steel Output of Axis

British, Soviet, American Total Outstrips For by 120 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(P)—The American Iron and Steel Institute said today that the United States alone can produce three tons of steel for every two made by the Axis and Axis-dominated nations.

Combined steel capacity of the United States, the British Empire, and Russia is considerably more than twice the Axis total, the institute declared.

Even if two-thirds of Russian capacity should fall into German hands, the United States and the Allies could still make 60 per cent more steel than Germany and the rest of the world, the wide-spread survey made by the institute disclosed.

The institute summed up the international steel situation as follows:

The United States industry will have capacity by the end of this year for producing about 88,000,000 net tons annually.

Approximately 60,000,000 tons annually can be made by Germany, Japan, and all continental European steelmaking nations except Russia. (Foreign figures are not published but the records of maximum production in peak periods afford a measure.)

British Empire steel capacity is around 20,000,000 tons a year and Russia about 21,800,000 tons.

Combined capacity of the United States, the British Empire and Russia is approximately 130,400,000 tons annually, or nearly 120 per cent more than that of the Axis.

Traffic Toll Halts Defense, Sullivan Says

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 10.—Forty thousand killings and over a million and a quarter injuries, predicted by the National Safety Council as the nation's 1941 traffic accident toll, will "definitely slow down our defense effort," Lon Sullivan, manager-secretary of the Georgia Association of Insurance Agents, told the Rotary and Lions clubs here.

Speaking under the auspices of the Columbus Safety Council, to the Lions Club last night and the Rotary Club today at noon, Sullivan said "it is time for every person to do everything that will help in the smallest way in this defense of our way of life, our homes and institutions. We must throw aside our indifference—an indifference which has caused so many persons to be killed and injured in the past years—and get down to serious business in preserving what lives and resources we have."

Toccoa Kiwanians Give 'Ladies' Night' Program

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. TOCCOA, Ga., Dec. 10.—The annual Kiwanis ladies' night meeting was held by the Toccoa Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club.

A turkey dinner was served by members of the Woman's Club, and the program was opened by the song, "America," followed by the invocation by the Rev. B. Scott Epps. Music was furnished by the Kiwanis Trio. Other musical features were duets and solos by local musicians.

The Kiwanis welcome was given by Dr. C. L. Ayers, and the response was by Mrs. S. E. Ayers. The guest speaker for the evening was Professor F. M. Kinard, of Clemson College, S. C.

The clubhouse decorations carried out the Christmas motif.

CAMP STEWART, Ga., Dec. 10. And some people were worrying about morale.

In a letter to Major General Sanderford Jarman, commanding general of Camp Stewart, more than a score of civilian employees in the Stewart quartermaster motor pool pledged all-out support to the defense program.

The text of the letter: "In view of the fact that a state of war now exists between the Empire of Japan and the United States, it is desired by the undersigned civilian civil service personnel of the quartermaster motor pool, that you be advised they are ready and willing to contribute to an all-out program for the cause of 'Keep 'em Rollin'' (the quartermaster motor maintenance unit's slogan), overtime and holidays not excepted. We take pleasure in offering our time 100 per cent."

The letter contained 21 signatures. Replying to the expression of service and loyalty, General Jarman assured the employees that "if everyone in America is willing to make such sacrifices, we cannot help winning a total victory."

ST. SIMONS AIRPORT IMPROVEMENTS CONTRACTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(P)—A contract for improvements to the Glynn county airport at St. Simons Island, Brunswick, Ga., has been awarded by the War Department to the Breslin Construction Company, Inc., Louisville, Ky. The improvements, to cost $134,165, include surfacing, widening, extending existing runways and installation of electric ducts and drain pipe.

The completion date was not given.

25,000-NAME CCC FILE OFFERED TO RECRUITERS

A card file containing names of 25,000 former Civilian Conservation Corps members has been offered the Army, Navy and Marine Corps for facility in recruiting.

State Director Charles Coffin, who said he thought the list would prove valuable to the services, declared the former enrollees have had training in auto mechanics, radio, telephone and telegraph, truck and tractor, welding, photography and a number of other vocations.

TWO FIELD ARTILLERY CAPTAINS ASSIGNED HERE

Clarence D. Barker and Frank E. Powers, captains in the Field Artillery at Camp Blanding, Fla., have been assigned to duty in Atlanta, the Army announced yesterday.

Housing Authority Named in Fulton

The Fulton county commissioners yesterday named a housing authority consisting of five members to co-operate with the federal government in inaugurating housing projects in the county outside Atlanta.

The federal housing authority already has authorized a 180-unit low-cost project in connection with the hospital and airport at Chamblee.

Georgia Units Get REA Funds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(P)—The Rural Electrification Administration today announced allotments totaling $5,521,500 for rural power in 11 states.

Among the allotments were: Amicalola Electric Membership Corp., Jasper, Ga., $165,500; Georgia Rural Power Reserve Electric Membership Corp., Louisville, Ga., $3,750,000.

A Three Days' Cough is Your Danger Signal

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. Merit Unit Upholds Ouster in Lumpkin

The State Merit Board yesterday sustained Welfare Director B. S. Miller in the dismissal of Miss Irene Moore, former director of the ment, who was accused of being politically dominated by her two prominent Lumpkin county uncles.

This was the first rigid test of the merit system which caused Governor Talmadge to balk when he first came into office. He finally went ahead with establishment of the merit system when pressure was exerted by federal agencies.

The two members ruling on Miss Moore's appeal were R. M.

Walker, of Jessup, and J. W. (Taxi) Smith, of Albany.

L. L. Gellerstedt Will Head Atlanta Clearing House

The Atlanta Clearing House at its annual meeting yesterday elected Lawrence L. Gellerstedt, executive vice president of the Citizens & Southern National Bank, president of the Clearing House for 1941-42. Other officers elected were: Vice president, William V. Crowley, vice president, Fulton National Bank; secretary, W. C. Adamson, vice president, First National Bank; treasurer, T. I. Miller, vice president, Citizens & Southern National Bank.

Dixie Trainees Ready To Begin Holiday Leaves

Troop Trains To Start Rolling Homeward Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow night from all the south's mammoth Army camps the troop trains will start rolling, loaded with men homeward bound for the Christmas holidays.

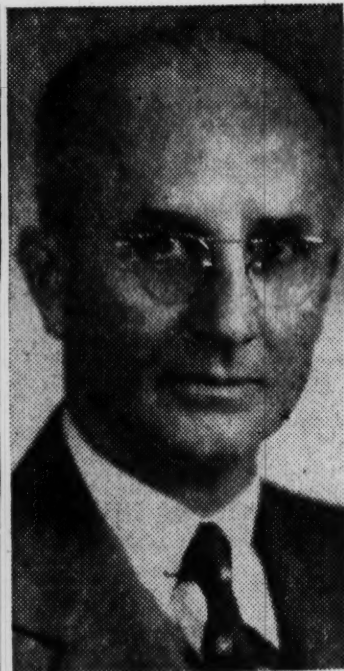

The men who live the farthest away will leave first, and the homeward movement will continue for five days, until December 17, when the men whose camps are nearest their homes will start the journey.

Thousands, due to the war, won't get leaves. Many will be in transit from their training camps to new bases. Many others, who otherwise could be furloughed, will probably have to stay in camp because strategic movements take precedence over all other troop traffic on the roads and cars may not be available.

The War Department has announced that furloughs will be staggered so not more than 25 per cent of the personnel of a post will be on leave at the same time.

Those not able to go home for Christmas under this rearrangement will be allowed to spend New Year's at home.

Return movements will begin the morning of December 24 and will continue for approximately three days, when the men on leave for New Year's begin moving out.

CLEARING HOUSE HEAD
Lawrence L. Gellerstedt yesterday was elected president of the Atlanta Clearing House for the coming year. He has had a long record of service with banking houses in the south.

U. S. October Income Climbs To 8 Billions

Figure Is Equivalent to An Annual Total of $95,000,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Commerce Department said today that national income reached a new record high in October. It was estimated: $8,262,000,000, which was the equivalent of an annual rate of $95,000,000,000.

The total for 1941 will be less than that figure, however, since the rate of payments has been climbing from month to month.

The estimate of the annual equivalent of the October income was based on the assumption that in a theoretical year each month would furnish as much income as October did, except for seasonal differences.

The October figure brought the total of income payments—all wages, salaries, dividends, and business profits—to $72,609,000,000 in the first 10 months of this year. The total of the similar period last year was $61,810,000,000.

In the 10 months salaries and wages made the largest increase, 21 per cent. Profits of persons in business for themselves, including farmers, made the second best increase, 16 per cent.

Single Day Makes Tough Men Out of Youngsters in Uniform

Jap Bombers Can Come Close to Hitting Fish in Barrel From 10,000 Feet, U. S. Sergeant Declares.

MANILA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—One day of war at Manila has made tough, determined soldiers out of a good many American youngsters who only yesterday were just kids in soldiers' uniforms.

I spent the night with a group of them on antiaircraft duty guarding Manila bay. Their detachment shot down the first Japanese plane felled by antiaircraft fire in the Clark Field battle and later downed four others, plus one badly hit and probably unable to return to its carrier.

They were dog-tired from day-long, night-long duty but quickly sprang to man their guns when we heard the sound of Japanese bombers approaching at 2:25 this morning in a softly moonlit sky.

They withheld their fire because they did not sight the planes. In the drawing accent of a southwestern state they said: "Yesterday we'd a let fly anywhere at the sky."

Yesterday they were so green that when 54 Japanese bombers came over at 10,000 feet with the sunlight painting their silver wings they remarked to one another: "My, ain't they purty?"

A few minutes later they suddenly became soldiers instead of kids. They didn't hit any of the heavy, multi-motored raiders, but they did answer to their own satisfaction the question of whether the Japanese can fly airplanes and bomb accurately.

"Sure, they can bomb," a sergeant said. "If they can't hit a fish in a barrel from 10,000 feet they can come close to it."

While the last bombs were still exploding Japanese fighter planes, obviously from carriers, dived and strafed planes on the ground and the gun position as well. The guns went into action, getting "five for sure and probably one more." Two American pursuit planes pitched into the battle and downed one each.

Loyalty to School Urged by Caldwell

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The University of Georgia faculty and student body were urged today to stand by the 150-year-old institution in this time of crisis.

President Harmon W. Caldwell, addressing the entire school, interpreted the status of the university with the Southern Association of Colleges and asked the students to take "no radical steps" regarding the war with Japan.

"We have been assured," Dr. Caldwell added, "that if conditions are corrected to the satisfaction of the association next December, the university will be reinstated dating back to September, when its suspension begins."

Liberia Confers Honor On Atlanta Educator

Word was received here yesterday that Edwin Barclay, president of the Republic of Liberia, on September 29, issued a decree which named Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, of Atlanta University, Knight Commander of the Liberian Humane Order of African Redemption. This action was taken on the advice of Lester A. Walton, United States minister to Liberia. The Order of African Redemption was founded in 1879 by President Anthony W. Gardner just after he had been decorated with the Spanish Order of Isabella Catolica. It consists of a star with rays pendant from a wreath of olives.

State Speeds Defense Work

$50,000 Set Up For Georgia's War Activities

State Planning Board Moves To Remove Overlapping.

The Governor yesterday approved $50,000 for defense activities in Georgia and the State Planning Board took action designed to eliminate overlapping and confusion in the various state agencies engaged in defense planning.

The executive ordered that the $50,000 be taken from the special emergency fund. State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., who is custodian of these funds, said expenditures for the present would be confined to the State Defense Corps and the Citizens' Defense Committee, which the Governor created this week.

In a meeting marked by considerable division of opinion, the State Planning Board finally adopted a budget calling for $52,100 annually. This would permit the setting up of a staff for Lieutenant Colonel Richard C. Job, director of the board.

Supplementary Fund.

After adopting this budget, the board asked for a supplementary appropriation of $30,000 a year for the Georgia Council for National Defense. Job also has been directing the work of this agency.

In order to eliminate duplication of activities, Henry T. McIntosh, of Albany, chairman of the board, called a meeting of the heads of all state agencies or committees which are carrying on any kind of defense program. This meeting will be held at 10 o'clock next Thursday morning in the state senate chamber.

The board also named committees to speed up defense operation, which Chairman McIntosh said was vital to citizen morale.

Placed on the finance committee were Chairman McIntosh, Dr. M. D. Collins, state school superintendent, and Robert Strickland, of Atlanta. Designated on the

Strikers Resume Jobs To Aid War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Government officials expressed satisfaction over the labor situation today, asserting that there were no strikes of any consequence delaying defense production.

A few disputes involving threatened walkouts still were pending before the conciliation service, the Defense Mediation Board and the Office of Production Management, but officials of those agencies predicted that the bulk of these would be settled without strikes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers said in a statement tonight industry would accept "as a public obligation" an invitation by President Roosevelt to discuss strikes in war industries but suggested such a conference would delay a "real solution of the labor problem" by legislation.

The association placed blame for numerous recent strikes in war plants on "irresponsible minorities" and said the only way to deal with these elements was through legislation.

personnel and budget committee were Dr. T. F. Abernethy, director of the State Department of Public Health, chairman; J. W. Woodruff Sr., of Columbus, and S. E. Vandiver, of the State Highway Board.

Woodruff Is Chairman.

Woodruff was made chairman of the committee on co-operation with federal agencies, and Wilson Williams, of Woodbury, and Dr. Collins were named to work with him. A special committee on agriculture consisted of Strickland, chairman; Williams and Vandiver.

By resolution the committees were authorized to solicit the aid of such technical advisers as they might deem necessary.

Emphasizing there was considerable confusion in defense work in Georgia, McIntosh suggested the board could best function as a co-ordinating and planning agency without administrative responsibilities.

McIntosh said the need for defense efforts was so great that the board should subordinate everything else and wake up to the magnitude of its task.

Charles A. Collier, chairman of the State Defense Council, attending the meeting and agreed with the planning board that too much waste and overlapping are hampering the state's defense efforts.

Eight Georgia Areas.

It was pointed out that his council, which is divided into eight Georgia areas, has been struggling along with private funds but that it will be impossible to continue its plan. He set $30,000 as the minimum for carrying on its activities.

"Georgia can't be the only seaboard state lagging behind," he declared. "If some mishap should befall one of our coastal cities I'm terribly afraid of what might happen. It's imperative that we get something going."

Williams charged that the board director in the past had not been asking for more money and had not used what he got, but other board members quickly came to Job's defense by saying he was only carrying out economy instructions of the Governor. They added that Job had been laboring under too much work and needed a staff to which he could delegate part of his responsibilities.

J. M. Comer, Jr., of Atlanta, who represented Woodruff, radio stated that Job had been laboring under too much work and needed a staff to which he could delegate part of his responsibilities.

The Planning Board established a "clearing house" for all information which the radio stations would be requested to broadcast. He said the radio stations at present were having trouble with unauthorized reports.

Radio Network.

He also recommended that all radio stations in Georgia be consolidated so that they could be formed into a network within an hour's notice. The board ordered Comer to submit a full written report on this subject.

Among the organizations and agencies to be represented at next Thursday's meeting will be the State Defense Corps, Georgia Council for National Defense, Department of Natural Resources, Georgia Library Association, Department of Health, State Housing Authority, Department of Public Welfare, Department of Agriculture, State Land-Use Planning Committee, State Highway Department, State Department of Education, Fourth Corps Area headquarters, and Department of Agriculture Defense Board.

Japs Operated With 'Economy of Action,' Clipper Flyer Says

Apparently Knew Objectives, Went Straight to Them; Aviator Sought Cover in Drainage Pipe During Aerial Attack.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—Japanese planes destroyed the Pan-American Airways' docks, hotel and other buildings in their surprise raid on Wake Island last Sunday, but failed to cripple the Philippine Clipper, which had just landed there, Captain J. H. Hamilton said tonight.

Captain Hamilton told his story in a statement issued jointly by Pan-American Airways and the 12th Naval District public relations office.

He described the flight to California via Midway and Honolulu as "routine" insofar as the flight was concerned.

But what he saw at the Pacific island outposts was anything but routine.

Captain Hamilton told how he took cover in a drainage pipe while two Japanese squadrons of nine planes each machinegunned and bombed the island outpost.

The clipper was outboard for Singapore and was flying between Wake and Guam when the naval commandant at Wake Island advised Hamilton by radio that hostilities had begun and suggested that the plane turn back.

Dumped Gas.

"We circled, dumped about 3,000 pounds of gasoline—to get to our landing weight of 80,000 pounds—and returned to Wake . . . and landed about 20 minutes after taking off," the statement said.

"On our arrival there, the commandant cleared us to depart subject to his orders. He asked that first we make a patrol flight and we prepared to do so. Orders were given to fuel the plane with sufficient gas for that flight and for the flight to Midway, plus the standard reserve."

Then I went with the commandant to his office to discuss the patrol.

"As I left his office to go to the hotel, and had just arrived by automobile at the spot where workmen had been laying five-foot drainage pipes, I left the car to walk."

"At that moment, they came over—nine planes on close pyramid formation, flying at about 1500 feet. I ducked into one of the drainage pipes."

Two Squadrons.

"This was one of two squadrons, each of nine planes, which participated in the attack. One squadron started by machine-gunning the construction camp, the other immediately afterward launched the attack which I saw. They were over the island for about five minutes, dropping what I judged to be fairly small bombs, about 150 pounds."

"The bombs fired the hotel, destroyed other Pan American buildings and the dock, but did not hit the Clipper. However there were 16 bullet holes in the plane. By good fortune, no bullets struck a vital spot."

"The attacking planes left the vicinity then and we prepared immediately for departure. We rounded up Pan American ground personnel. We felt it was imperative to take them aboard to go with us."

"En route to Midway we saw nothing until we were approaching Midway and were within about 40 miles of the island. Then we saw two surface vessels, destroyers or cruisers, headed on a course toward Wake. Midway was completely blacked out."

"As soon as we landed we reported this to the Naval commandant and we learned that the attack which had been made on Midway had been shelling by surface vessels."

Economy of Action.

"Up to that time there had been no attack on Midway by plane. At each point we noted an economy of action, at Wake and at Midway. The enemy apparently knew the desired objectives and proceeded directly for them."

"As soon as possible, we proceeded again, this time with Hawaii as our destination. Again the flight operation itself was routine; we saw nothing. Toward the conclusion of the flight we took a course for a time directed on an alternative airport, then were informed that the way was clear at Pearl Harbor. We altered our course and landed there."

"The damage at Honolulu is a matter of record."

"I must say that the morale of the people in Hawaii is excellent. The same is true of the people we saw at Wake and Midway. These people are calmly going about their regular business as best they may, at the same time taking the necessary precautions for safety."

Routine Flight.

"We remained in Honolulu until yesterday afternoon when we took off for San Francisco. This portion of our journey was like any other we have ever made with the exception, that we maintained radio silence."

Hamilton said that 37 persons, including 11 crew members, were aboard the Clipper when it left Wake Island. All except the crew members and one company executive were left at Honolulu.

Captain Hamilton, 34, a native of Texarkana, Ark., attended the University of California, and then took a Navy flying course at Pensacola, Fla., for two years.

He has 5,562 flying hours to his credit, and has been flying Clippers for two years. He and his wife, the former Geraldine Allen, of Miami, Fla., live in San Francisco.

American Newsmen Confined To Homes by Vengeful Nazis

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—(AP)—United States newspapermen were ordered out of a German press conference today and sent to their homes in German retaliation for the arrest of Axis newspapermen in the United States.

The American embassy said later they were not arrested but merely confined to their homes. One German official assured them that any further action would be "in the noblest form," that if police came for them it would not be in police cars.

German employees of American news agencies and newspapers were permitted to continue sending dispatches.

Americans Seated.
The Americans were seated with other newspapermen at the customary conference table when the foreign office spokesman came to the door. Instead of entering, he announced:

"Contrary to international practice, German correspondents have been arrested in the United States. I must now ask American correspondents to leave this room and proceed to their homes."

As the Americans left he silently shook their hands. American newspapermen "no longer exist for you and us," a foreign office speaker told the remaining correspondents.

(Five German newspapermen, all but one representing DNB, German news agency, were taken into custody in New York after President Roosevelt assumed extraordinary powers over German, Italian and Japanese nationals.)

(The Bern office of the Associated Press received from Berlin on its automatic teletype today a message which said: "Hurry up. We leave for the jug.")

(Asked if the Americans would be interned, Angus

Thuermer, of the Associated Press staff, replied:

"We don't know. All American correspondents have been asked to leave for their homes in Berlin. Bye-bye old man."

(The next dispatch was filed by Rudolph Josten, German employee of the staff.)

German authorities refused to comment upon President Roosevelt's speech last night in which he warned the American people that the United States must face the war machines of Germany and Italy as well as Japan.

Dienst Aus Deutschland, close to the foreign office, said it would find an authentic German answer soon.

Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press and winner of the Pulitzer prize for distinguished foreign correspondence, heads a staff in the German capital which includes four other Americans, Alvin J. Steinkopf, Edwin Shanke, Ernest C. Fischer and Angus MacLean Thuermer.

Baldish with a fringe of graying hair, Lochner has been in Berlin since 1924 and bureau chief since 1928.

Native of Illinois.
Lochner, 53, is a native of Springfield, Ill., and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Steinkopf, who saw service in France and Germany with the 32d division of the A. E. F., was born on a Minnesota farm, March 27, 1897, and was graduated from Marquette University in 1917.

A member of the Associated Press staff since 1931, he was sent to Vienna as chief of bureau in 1935 and when that city became a German provincial town after the Austrian Anschluss with Germany in 1938, he organized a new A. P. bureau in Budapest.

Edwin Shanke, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., April 28, 1910, and joined the Associated Press Bureau in his home city in 1935. He has been in Berlin since 1937 except for news assignments in various parts of central Europe. Ernest G. Fischer, who was born in Bartlett, Texas, October 7, 1902, went to Berlin in 1940 from the Dallas bureau of the Associated Press, which he joined there in 1937, after a period on the New York cable desk. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

Angus Thuermer joined the Associated Press in Berlin, where he had been a student, and among his wartime assignments was a journey to a Silesian internment camp to interview the British author, P. G. Wodehouse. Thuermer was born at Quincy, Ill., July 17, 1917.

U. S. "HOPES" NAZIS WILL BE RELEASED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The State Department revealed tonight that the German embassy had been informed that "it was hoped" a number of German newspaper correspondents detained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, would be released after the FBI had concluded its investigation.

COMMON FOE—Two American flags flew yesterday at the Daily Express building, London, as a symbol, Lord Beaverbrook said, of the United States and Britain fighting a common foe.

Methodists Army Civilian Wire Support Workers Offer To President Their Services

Bishops' Council at Sea Island Map Shrine to John Wesley.

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Council of Bishops of the Methodist church today telegraphed President Roosevelt:

"The Council of Bishops of the Methodist church, in session at Sea Island, desire to assure you in this hour of peril of our profound sympathy and loyalty and above all our earnest prayers that in this national crisis you may have divine guidance and support."

The Bishops also received a delegation which submitted a plan for an elaborate memorial to John Wesley, founder of Methodism, at Frederica.

Shrine Proposed.
The proposal was for a national shrine, as outlined by Judge Price Gilbert, chairman of the committee. Seven bishops were named to confer with the Georgia committee and report later during the present conference.

The southeastern jurisdiction bishops, in a separate meeting, voted not to make any changes in assignments until the 1944 jurisdictional meeting.

The full council endorsed a watchnight service for more than 2,000 Methodist young people in the Methodist National Youth Fellowship movement on New Year's Eve.

Bishop James Cannon, of Richmond, Va., said last night that the Japanese "should be interned immediately and sent under guard from the country as guilty of violations of all proprieties and decency."

"Unitedly we must protect not only China but ourselves from Hitler, Mussolini and crazed Japanese militarists," he added in an interview.

Bishop Cannon is attending the meeting here of the Methodist council of bishops.

Interview comment from other churchmen of the Japanese attack of United States' possessions included:

Bishop H. Lester Smith, Cincinnati—"I think it was an outrageous example of barbarism that greatly disappointed us in the Japanese people. Declaration of war was the only thing we could do."

"Stabbed in Back."

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, Macon, Ga.—"When the Japanese stabbed us in the back... there was nothing for America to do but go out in defense of ourselves."

Bishop Titus Lowe, Indianapolis—"The United States has been patient with Japan. She has gone more than the second mile."

The council had concluded its night meeting last night, but all remained seated in the hall to hear the President's talk.

Bishop Francis McConnell, of New York, closed the service with a prayer for the well-being of the nation which included these words: "Having taken a stand, give us courage not to turn back."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Russians Slay 14,000 Nazis in Recapturing Ten More Villages

MOSCOW, Dec. 10.—(AP)—At least 14,000 more German troops have fallen on the snowy Moscow front and the advancing Red army has recaptured 10 or more villages, the Soviet radio announced tonight.

Russian troops in the south also were advancing, and the radio quoted Major General Petrov in Red Star as saying the Germans had lost 15,000 men, 150 tanks, 131 planes and more than 70 guns in 30 days of assault on the Red naval base of Sevastopol in the Crimea.

The radio cited these gains: Seven towns retaken in the Kalinin area, 95 miles northwest of the capital, 1,400 Nazis killed.

Several settlements retaken in the Tula sector, 100 miles south of Moscow; 600 Germans killed. Recapture of Olets in the Orel sector, 200 miles to the south, the routing of two German infantry divisions, and 12,000 German casualties.

Two Soviet units, under Generals Kuznetsov and Levashenko, were credited with wiping out 4,000 Nazis and the capture of 75 tanks in isolated battles, and the Red air force was officially reported to have destroyed 600 German soldiers, 10 tanks, 67 trucks with supplies and infantry, and about 80 ammunition carts in a single day's activity.

GERMANS ADMIT MANY WITHDRAWALS

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—(AP)—German troops are withdrawing from many of the offensive wedges they have driven into the Russian front, German military spokesmen said today, but they declared the retreat was to winter positions for tactical reasons.

The spokesmen acknowledged that Tikhvin, rail center 110 miles southeast of Leningrad which the Russians claim to have recaptured, may have been among the places vacated.

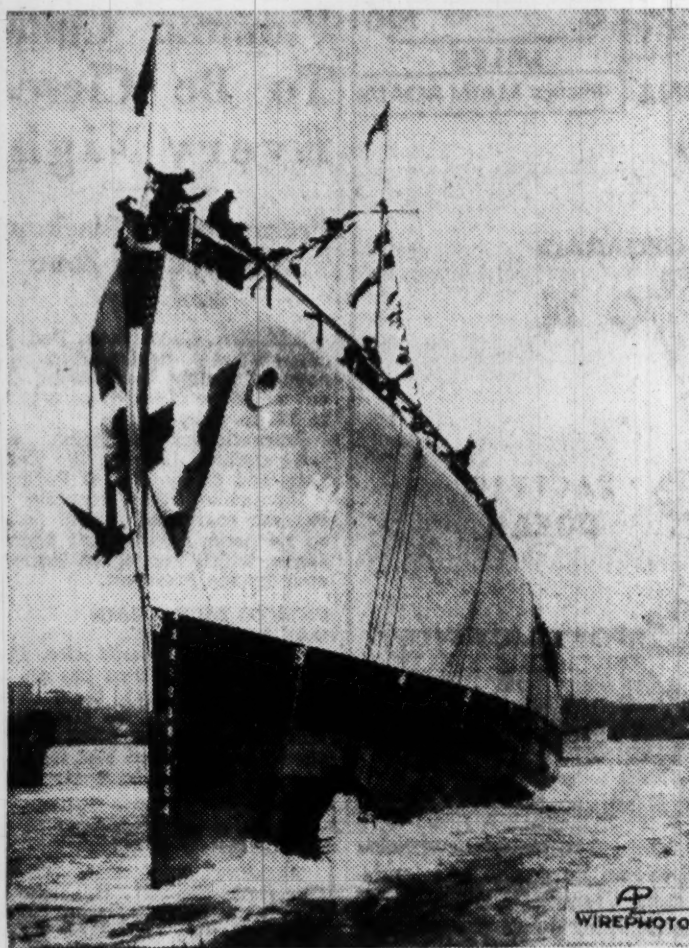

The German push is through until spring, spokesmen indicated, declaring "Germany has no strategic ambitions this winter."

(Regarding "speculations," attributed to the Soviet press, of possible German peace moves, the German radio said: "It was again categorically declared at the foreign office Wednesday that 'There will be no talking with the Bolsheviks. They will be beaten.'")

Executors Request Clarification of Will

Clarification of certain clauses of the will of the late Fred M. McGonigal, Atlanta financier, was asked yesterday in a petition filed in Fulton superior court by its executors, the Trust Company of Georgia and Norris A. Broyles. Among other points, the executors asked the court to decide whether 15 per cent of income which the will instructed them to set aside for reinvestment should be computed on the basis of the entire income from the estate or on the basis of the net income remaining after they have deducted the sums to be paid to Mrs. Samuella McGonigal under a separation agreement.

Mrs. McGonigal and the residuary legatees, Miss Anne McGonigal, of 1327 Peachtree street, and Charles N. Dannels, were named as defendants. Judge Virlyn B. Moore yesterday named Hamilton Lokey as guardian ad litem for Anne McGonigal as a minor.

Navy's Boston Yard Launches 2 Destroyers

Fighting Vessels Named for Rear Admiral and Sea Hero.

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Two destroyers were launched at the Boston Navy Yard today.

The U. S. S. Earle bears the name of the rear admiral who organized the North sea mine barrage in World War I, while the U. S. S. Doran was named for an enlisted man who was wounded while cutting a Spain-Havana cable at Cienfuegos during the Spanish-American War.

The launchings of the vessels were the first to be announced by the Navy since the outbreak of the war between the United States and Japan.

Mrs. John Fore Hines, of Ardmore, Pa., daughter of Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, U. S. N., late president of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, sponsored the launching of the Earle. Admiral Earle was chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance during World War I.

The Doran was sponsored by Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, of Boston, sister of the late Chief Master-at-Arms John James Doran, U. S. N. Admiral Earle won the Distinguished Service Medal for his services, the citation crediting him with organizing the mine barrage.

Congress awarded Doran the Medal of Honor for "extraordinary heroism under fire."

TROUBLE FOR JAPAN—A large dose of trouble for Japan was delivered yesterday when the U. S. S. Doran, new destroyer, slipped down the ways in the Boston Navy yard. The vessel is named for John J. Doran, hero of a cable-cutting feat in the Spanish-American War—the war that resulted in the United States gaining possession of the Philippine Islands, principal battleground of the new conflict.

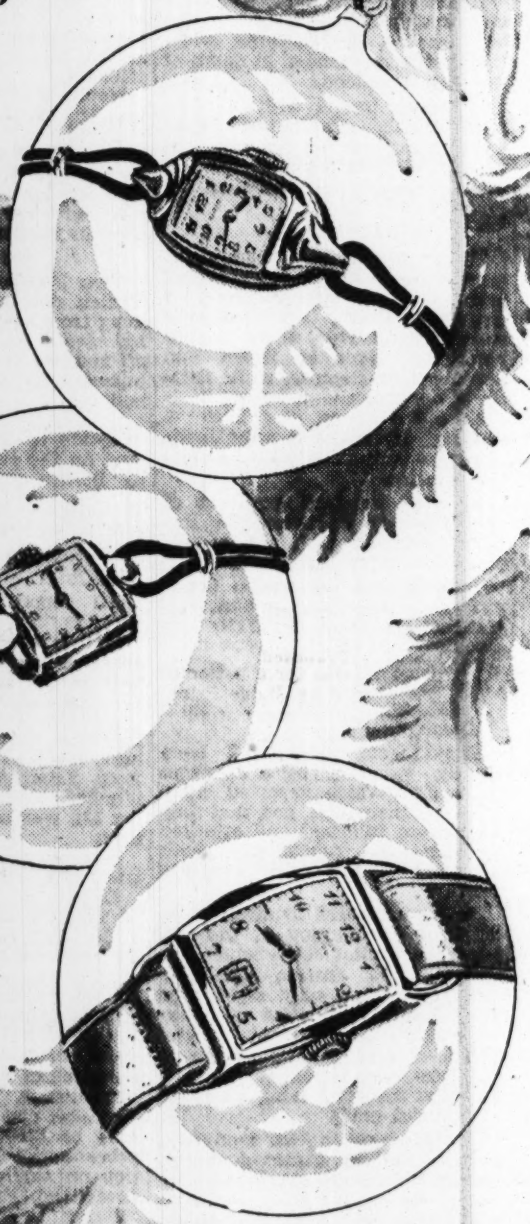

Defense Order Methods Cause Protest in Cobb

MARIETTA, Ga., Dec. 10.—

Cobb county business and civic leaders joined this week and registered, via letters to Senators George and Russell and to Representative Malcom Tarver, their objection to "apparent discrimination" against small business in allotment of defense orders. Six specific recommendations were made in the letter, most of these having to do with the fact that present government specifications are too rigid and the time limit allowed is too small with the result that practically all small businesses are automatically excluded from defense contracts.

The letter, signed by 27 prominent Cobb citizens, begins, "The chief purpose of the American people today should be to insure their defense. The fulfillment of this purpose involves three major responsibilities on the part of our government; namely, to produce quickly the maximum quantity of armament, to minimize the extent of readjustments in living conditions and to our economic structure, and to insure the retention of the principles which we profess to be preparing to defend."

Nome Isolated After Report of Serious Blaze

Damage to One Company Alone May Reach $100,000.

SEATTLE, Dec. 10.—(P)—Fire of unknown origin and extent has been reported in Nome, Alaska.

The Alaska Communications System said direct contact with Nome was blacked out, thus preventing complete details.

Carl Lomen, chairman of the board of the Lomen Commercial Company, said fire yesterday burned the company offices and warehouses causing damage which might reach $100,000.

A message to Pan American Airways from their Nome office late yesterday said they were shutting down because of a fire near by, Manager Joe Crosson reported. The message came over Pan American's own communication system.

Lomen said the Pan American office was in the center of the town, which spreads out, and that the fire must have traveled some distance.

The Army and other mercantile companies have large stocks at Nome.

A $2,000,000 fire destroyed most of Nome September 17, 1934.

WHERE BATTLE FLAMED—Japanese invaders attacking Luzon Island from Aparri to San Fernando (A) landed at Aparri, Pamplona, and near Vigan, it was reported yesterday, but difficult mountains and dense jungles lay between them and Manila, Philippine capital. U. S. forces beat off a landing attempt between Vigan and San Fernando. Japanese blasted heavily at Cavite, Fort William McKinley, Nichols field, and Manila itself (B).

which he was serving was not named.

Invading Japanese troops and paratroopers were reported to have won footholds of uncertain tenacity along 160 miles of the north and northwest Luzon coast of the Philippines, despite a smashing assault by United States Army and Navy fliers on one transport convoy of six ships.

The United States Army announced officially that the Japanese, in heavy force, swept against northern Luzon from Vigan to Aparri, that landings were effected at Aparri and perhaps several contiguous points on the north coast and that the six-ship troop convoy had been crippled in early morning landing operations near Vigan, on the northwest.

The Philippine constabulary said main Japanese forces also had succeeded in landing near Vigan and there was one report that the town had been taken by Japanese paratroopers.

A second Army communiqué at Manila late in the afternoon said that the situation in north Luzon was unchanged and that no other landings had been confirmed aside from those mentioned earlier, about Aparri.

Manila and its own naval and military establishments were under ferocious and sustained aerial attack in the bright afternoon sunshine.

Smoke Columns

Smoke columns were visible from Nichols air depot; fires burned at the Cavite naval base, and the raiders struck at a line of merchant ships anchored outside the breakwater of Manila Bay and at Fort William McKinley.

More than 100 bombs were dropped in the first hour of the attack. Several Japanese planes were reported shot down.

American forces swung into immediate action in the north and west to fight off the first full-fledged invasion of U. S. territory since the war of 1812.

In the early morning, Army and Navy fliers roared to the attack against the six Japanese transports off Vigan on the west coast, scoring perfect hits on three, capsizing and sinking one and damaging three others with near misses. The ships, a communiqué said, were heavily escorted.

The Japanese used both naval and aerial bombardment to cover the landings which, a communiqué from the headquarters of General Douglas MacArthur, the U. S. commander in chief, said were "in heavy force."

Aparri was pounded from the air throughout Tuesday night and then shelled by warships, while the first troops landed at dawn at near-by Pamplona.

American troops, with the support of the Philippine Army, were going into action on the ground. The nature of their operations cannot be disclosed at present.

Search Seas.

From Singapore, meanwhile, came word British destroyers and patrol planes were sweeping over the South China sea today in search for survivors of the night battleship Prince of Wales and battle cruiser Repulse, while British troops consolidated their positions along strong new lines in northern Malaya, where the Japanese had driven a wedge across the frontier.

Several hundred survivors of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse reached Singapore this morning aboard a destroyer.

DNB quoted the Tokyo imperial command today as announcing that the Prince of Wales and Repulse were sunk about noon Wednesday off Kwangchao, on the coast of Malaya.

(Maps of Malaya show no "Kwangchao.")

It said both ships had been closely watched by a Japanese submarine which reported when they left their base, and that they then were followed and attacked by Japanese submarines, with Japanese planes later engaging them.

Singapore heard in stunned silence of the sinking of the two powerful capital ships which led Britain's new eastern fleet into Malayan waters only eight days ago. Naval authorities said they were unable at present to give details of the grievous setback to the fleet, which had gone on a sweep of the sea looking for Japanese naval units.

The Japanese in their land drive apparently had captured hotly-contested Kota Bharu airbase, but elsewhere on the long peninsula leading to Singapore British defenses were firm.

British and Indian troops reformed and reorganized south of Kota Bharu after heavy fighting in the jungles just below the Thai border, and a communiqué said they were in excellent spirits and their losses comparatively light.

The Japanese who landed at Kuantan, on the Malayan east coast about 200 miles above Singapore and 100 miles below Kota Bharu, were battering vainly against strong British positions, it was announced.

Only at Kota Bharu on the ragged north border had the Japanese made any headway.

Fitzgerald Hall Re-elected Chairman of Rail Session

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 10.—(P)—Fitzgerald Hall, of Nashville, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, was re-elected today as chairman of the Southeastern (Railroad) Presidents' Conference.

A number of executives of southeastern railroads attended the closed session, which was described as a routine meeting.

If Back Aches or Ankles Swell, Flush Your Kidneys

If you're feeling out of sorts. Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatism, Pains, Distress, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Worry, Cold, working too hard, or over-eating may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they re-elect today as chairman of the Southeastern (Railroad) Presidents' Conference.

A number of executives of southeastern railroads attended the closed session, which was described as a routine meeting.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 20 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Forty years ago a practicing physician prescribed Castex as a medicine available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help those suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To relieve burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush anese made any advance, and at present in this frontier area a Punjabi motorized unit trapped and destroyed seven Japanese tanks.

In the seas about Malaya and in the air, both warships and planes from the Dutch East Indies reinforced the British in strength.

Netherlands bombers were helping British, Australian and New Zealand air units to pound Japanese transport ships and air bases in Thailand. Dutch warships (possibly including new cruises) were with the British Far Eastern fleet in the China Sea.

Beaten Off.

Two Japanese attacks on the British crown colony of Hong-kong from the direction of Shanghai meanwhile have been beaten off and the situation has been stabilized, a British communiqué announced.

Two boatloads of Japanese attempting to cross Tide Cove and land on the east shore were sunk by British machinegun fire and survivors of the party were wiped out on the beach, the communiqué said.

A Japanese plane crashed in Tide Cove.

All reports to British headquarters, the communiqué added, testify to the effectiveness of the artillery fire which earlier halted the invaders.

About 1,000 United States nationals, including Occidentals, Chinese and Filipinos, are marooned here, some of them having come from Shanghai. The Occidentals number about 350 persons, including 110 women and 60 small children.

Many of the Americans are registering for civil defense work.

Dispatches from Sydney reported that the loss of the Prince of Wales and Repulse had stunned the people of Australia and altered the whole conception of Australian preparations.

The Australian prime minister, John Curtin, immediately promulgated regulations for the conservation of vital stocks for essential services.

"There can no longer be business as usual in Australia," he proclaimed, "but only concentration on war production and war necessities. Frankly, the enemy's striking power in the air has given the enemy an initial momentum which only a maximum effort can arrest. There must be an end to holiday plans."

The Australian war cabinet and war advisory council at once began discussing measures to meet the new position.

The sinking of the two mighty ships was the worst single tragedy to befall the royal navy since the war began. Nevertheless, it left Britain with at least 19 battleships afloat or building.

Shortly after Prime Minister Churchill had informed parliament of the news, the German agency DNB attributed to Japanese naval authorities an expression of belief that the 35,000-ton battleship King George V also had gone down.

Pay Increases Voted for 868 By Commission

Fulton Workers Receiving $185 or Less To Get $5 More.

Salary increases of $5 per month for 868 county employees receiving $185 per month or less were voted yesterday at a special meeting of the Fulton county commissioners. The total increase will amount to $52,000 per year. The raises are effective January 1.

The motion to make the increase was offered by Commissioner C. R. Adams and seconded by Commissioner E. L. Almand. Commissioner I. Glone Hailey proposed a substitute motion for a raise of $10 per month for all 1,115 employees.

Objections were raised by several commissioners that the budget, which will not be ready until the later part of the month, might not warrant such an increase. For a time, as discussions as to the budget developed, it appeared the question of any increase would be put off, but Commissioner Adams insisted on a vote on his motion.

The motion carried, the only negative vote being that of Chairman Troy Chastain, who said that he felt the raise was premature and the report of the auditor did not justify it. He said if any money was available for raises he felt it should be distributed among those in the $125-per-month bracket.

at the STATE CAPITOL

John B. Walker, of McRae, sheriff of Telfair county, was appointed to the state public safety board yesterday, by Governor Eugene Talmadge.

He succeeds Sheriff L. C. Bittick of Monroe county, who resigned some time ago.

Walker was selected from a list of 10 sheriffs submitted by the Georgia Peace Officers Association in accordance with the law setting up the Public Safety Department and the State Highway Patrol.

Ben T. Hulet, state commissioner of labor, has announced that he had offered his services to the War Department. A year ago last September he went on the inactive list when his unit of the National Guard was called to army duty. Hulet held a major's commission in the Guard but went on the inactive list as a lieutenant colonel. During the last war he entered as a private and was released as a lieutenant from the 45th Infantry.

at the COURTHOUSE

P. H. Mell yesterday was convicted of usury in Fulton criminal court, Judge Jesse M. Wood presiding. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and to serve six months on one count and to pay $300 and serve 12 months on three other counts. Judge Wood suspended the jail terms, in case the fines are paid. The defendant was released upon his agreeing to put up a $1,000 bond today.

Fulton County School Superintendent Jere Wells left Atlanta for Brunswick to attend the College of Methodist Bishops. He is lay leader of one of the two Atlanta districts.

Doyal Anderson has been indicted by the Fulton county grand jury on a felony charge of operating an automobile with reckless disregard for human life on the Alpharetta-Cumming highway December 1. He was alleged to have endangered the life of Gertrude Smith, a passenger in the car with him. Anderson was also indicted on a misdemeanor charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

The petition filed by Tom M. Clarke for the rezoning of property at Northside drive and Bellemead road, scheduled for a hearing before the planning commission today, has been postponed till January 8, Courtland S. Gilbert, secretary of the county planning commission announced yesterday.

The Fulton county grand jury has voted to indict W. Tom Bradley on the larceny of an automobile from C. F. Cason, of 1229 Erskine street, August 14. Three previous convictions on similar charges were listed in the indictment.

Weyman H. Dobson, official of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, Local 350, has pleaded guilty in Fulton superior court, before Judge Walter C. Hendrix, to larceny after trust. He was charged with converting to his own use $1,116.93 of union funds. Sentence was delayed until Friday until a report on Dobson can be made by the probation office.

MRS. JAMES CRAMER THOMSON.

Miss Emma Hardman Weds Mr. Thomson in Commerce

COMMERCE, Ga., Dec. 10.—The First Baptist church provided the setting for the marriage of Miss Emma Griffin Hardman and James Cramer Thomson, which took place here this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Dr. H. H. Shell, of Bainbridge, in the presence of a fashionable assemblage of relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. N. Hardin, the organist, and Mrs. Charles T. Roy, the soloist and sister of the groom, rendered the musical program. The altar was beautified with Woodwardia fern and branched candelabra held lighted white tapers. Grecian urns holding Easter lilies and white gladioli topped the white columns placed in front of the candelabra. Easter lilies decorated each corner of the white satin pre-dieu, and clusters of Easter lilies tied with white satin ribbons marked the pews for relatives of the couple.

Bridal Personnel.

Waddy Randolph Thomson Jr. was best man for his brother. Usher-groomsmen were Joseph D. Neikirk, of Bronxville, N. Y.; Charles T. Roy, of Evanston, Ill.; Linton M. Collins, of Washington, D. C.; Lamar S. Chapman, of Taylor, S. C.; J. D. Todd Jr., of Hugh Z. Graham, of Greenville, S. C.; C. W. Hood Jr., and A. M. Davidson, of Commerce.

Miss Innes Comer, of Birmingham, Ala., the maid of honor, wore American Beauty tulle. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves, and the bouffant skirt was made of bands of matching velvet ribbon. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white snapdragons, white carnations and blue delphinium tied with blue ribbon. Mrs. Linton M. Collins, of Washington, D. C., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and her dress and flowers duplicated those of Miss Comer.

Bridesmaids were: Mrs. Joseph M. Irie, Rochester, Minn., sister of the bride; Misses Pauline Thomson, Greenville, S. C., sister of the groom; Tallulah Dunlap, Mobile, Ala.; Charlotte Selman, Atlanta, Ga.; Mesdames Vernon Kyle and Jan Stalker, Atlanta, Ga. They wore dresses and carried flowers exactly like those of the maid and matron of honor.

Bride's Beauty Enhanced.
The bride's beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory bridal satin made on princess lines. The gown was worn by Mrs. R. W. Miles, the former Miss Polly Burdett, on her wedding day, and featured leg o' mutton sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and the graceful skirt flared into a long train. The rosepoint lace veil was posed over bridal illusion and extended beyond the train. The veil belongs to a close friend, Mrs. L. O. Benton, of Monticello, the former Miss Margaret Tate, and was worn by the bride's sister, Josephine Hardman Collins, when she became a bride. White orchids, swainsons, and stephanotis, arranged in cascade effect, formed the bride's bouquet. She was given in marriage by her brother, Lamarine Griffin Hardman Jr., of Commerce.

Mrs. L. G. Hardman, mother of the bride, wore heaven-blue crepe trimmed with silver beads, and orchids on her shoulder. Mrs. James C. Thomson, of Greenville, S. C., mother of the groom, wore twilight blue net banded with lace and trimmed with sequins. Her flowers were orchids.

Mrs. Hardman entertained at a reception at her home here after the ceremony, in compliment to the bride and groom.

The bride's table in the dining room was covered with a white satin cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake embossed with valley lilies formed the central decoration. At either end of the table were crystal candelabra holding white tapers. Crystal compotes held green and white mints embossed with valley lilies. The bride's book was kept by Miss Elizabeth Davis, Atlanta.

Debutantes in Earnest as They Cancel Parties To Plunge Into Work for Country's Defense

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • THE 1941-42 debutantes laid aside their butterfly existence yesterday and turned their thoughts to the serious and distressing view of their country at war. Called by their president, Mary Frances Broach, for a special meeting at the home of Mary Hodgson, the club took immediate action to cancel plans for a large charity ball scheduled for late January. And at least one of their number, Karen Norris, called off entirely all plans for her formal presentation to society at a brilliant reception on December 22.

Karen, you recall, is in school at the moment at Sweet Briar College in Virginia, and as soon as the world-shocking announcement came over the air waves on Sunday of Japan's dastardly attack on Hawaii, she called her mother, Mrs. Jack Norris, by long-distance telephone. Her decision to call off her debut party was final and unalterable. For her adored father, Dr. Jack Norris, is serving with the United States fleet in the Pacific and was in Pearl Harbor when Japanese bombs rained death and destruction there. She could not think of parties, she said, with her father in the danger zone.

Atlanta debutantes do not expect applause for yesterday's action. They were a serious and resolute group when they cast their votes to turn their thoughts from frivolity to the grim business of helping their country in an hour of need. From here on, the pleasant hours they are accustomed to while away at luncheons, teas and dances will be spent in mastering first-aid classes, communications courses, ambulance driving, bandage rolling, sweater knitting—in fact, all the hundred and one things that become the task of women whose country is at war. Each member was quick to Between now and then, don't be surprised if you find determined looks supplanting the care-free and charming smiles that have greeted you all winter at debutante affairs. For the debs are in dead earnest about this thing called war!

In the face of an acute shortage of nurses, the Atlanta Chapter of American Red Cross is enrolling volunteers in a new nurses' aid corps. The trained, volunteer members of this corps will act as assistants to graduate nurses of all kinds of community health services. They will be trained in Atlanta's leading hospitals, under graduate supervision. Those who wish to serve in this way are requested to enroll immediately at the Red Cross headquarters at 848 Peachtree street.

So active and in such good health is Mrs. Holbrook that she kept open house for several hours, and was assisted by Mrs. John J. Woodside Sr. and Mrs. Gertrude N. Ashburn.

Mrs. Holbrook was born on December 8, 1848, in Vicksburg, Miss., and talks entertainingly of the period preceding, during and after the War Between the States. Edward A. Numerous useful and attractive gifts were sent Mrs. Holbrook, who also received exquisite flowers and candy as mementos of her birthday anniversary. She belongs to several patriotic organizations and is a member of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

Miss McCauley Will Be Honored

One of the loveliest visitors who will be in the city during the holidays is Miss Rosa Moore McCauley, of Waynesboro, who will visit her cousins, Misses Harriet and Caroline Smith.

Miss McCauley, who is a student at St. Mary's College in Raleigh, N. C., arrives in the city on December 18. On the afternoon of December 20 Miss McCauley's popular young hostesses will entertain in her honor at an open house at their residence on Woodward way.

Mrs. W. Henry Smith will assist her daughters in entertaining the guests, who will number 250 members of the high school and college coterie. The affair will take place between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock.

TAX REPORT.

McDONOUGH, Ga., Dec. 10.—J. E. Miller, tax commissioner of Henry county, announces that the tax books are open to receive 1941 tax collections. The digest for 1941 is more than $4,000,000, but only about half is subject to taxation, it is said, because of the homestead exemption.

Parties To Honor Betrothed Couple

Miss Jane Raven and Irwin Allen Webb, whose marriage takes place Saturday in the little chapel of the Glenn Memorial church, will be honored this evening at the open house to be given by Miss Raven's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Raven, at their home on Nelms avenue.

Following the wedding rehearsal tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Raven will entertain the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper.

Among recent parties given in compliment to the popular bride-elect was the shower given by Miss Marjorie Howe and Mrs. Tom Whitfield at the latter's home on Page avenue. Miss Raven was also honored at the party given by Misses Mary Garvey, Josephine Mackay and Mildred McKay at the home of Miss Garvey on Mc-Lendon avenue.

Gate City Post.

Gate City Post, No. 72, Auxiliary American Legion, will meet at 8 o'clock this evening in the Henry Grady hotel. Members are requested to bring a renewal or prospective member and a 25-cent gift to be distributed among veteran families.

YOUR COUNTRY CALLS YOU!

Since the dastardly conduct of Japan toward our own people on Sunday, December 7, 1941, we are firmly united in a common cause. We have declared war, and we are shoulder to shoulder in a fight that will resolve itself in nothing but complete victory for the United States.

With fifty-four of our own boys in the service, and hundreds of relatives of the Rich Co-workers in camps, on the sea, in the air, and on battle fronts, a feeling of sympathy on the part of your Executives goes out to you, and we too are united in one aim--the besting of a common enemy.

This store is united in a bond and a sympathy that not in our memory has yet been approached.

We stand ready to help you actively, in private, in every action that may concern you in this great cause. Call on us, one and all, and let us try to solve your problems whenever it is possible, and lend good cheer.

There is naturally some hysteria in such heart-rending news that peaceful America is at war. Let us pull ourselves together and resolve to march forward, lay aside the hysteria, and show a bold front. Nothing can be accomplished in excitement -- much can be done in enthusiastically working together.

Diet Alone Streamlines Few Figures

By Ida Jean Kain.

If you are 20 pounds overweight, you don't want the same figure on a smaller scale. You want a much better figure—or it isn't worth cutting calories.

It is easy to see how important the right kind of regular exercise is to a good streamlining job—afterwards. This is illustrated by a reducer who took off a neat 20 pounds, but whose calisthenics did not quite keep pace with the calorie cutting. Here are her measurements before and after dieting:

	Aug. 7	Nov. 7
Weight	145 lbs.	125 lbs.
Chest	33 ins.	33 ins.
Bust	36 ins.	35 1-2 ins.
Waist	30 ins.	27 1-2 ins.
Hips	38 ins.	35 1-2 ins.
Buttocks	40 ins.	37 1-2 ins.
Thigh	22 ins.	21 ins.
Calf	12 ins.	12 ins.
Ankle	8 ins.	8 ins.

With specific exercise she can easily slim one and one-half inches off the waist. And, if she wants to be very streamlined, another one and one-half inches should come off the hips. Such changes take exercise, not diet. Here are sample waist and hip streamliners that will enable any reducer to get her measurements down in short order.

1. Stand on knees on floor, arms held straight out at sides, shoulder level. Hold trunk erect with hips well under. Bend acutely sideboards—like a plane dipping its wings—and try to touch alternate hands to floor at either side. As you bend, maintain the upstretch through the midsection and try to hold arms straight out from shoulders. Do not let midriff slump or hips jut out.
2. Do the "wall bicycle" from hips and abdominal muscles. Lie on floor on back with buttocks against wall, both legs straight up wall. Keeping one knee straight, flex the other vigorously toward chest. Then thrust that leg straight up wall as you flex other leg. Keep this up for about 50 counts. When you get into the swing of the exercise, extend the workout to the arms. Have arms straight out on floor at sides, shoulder level, and swing up overhead in rhythm with legwork.

A suit is a tested stand-by for your holiday traveling. Vera Zorina wears a slim skirt in slate gray wool with a three-quarter length jacket in soft battleship gray angora and soft wool material with an inset design of slate gray wool. Her accessories are burgundy red.

In the tailored mood, yet definitely feminine, is Ruth Warrick in the suit of warm brown and beige. Notice the interesting treatment in stripes of long, dolman-sleeved jacket, also companion handbag. The kettle brim hat is of beige and brown suede.

Maria Montez Abandons Her Sarong For Role In Edgar Allen Poe Mystery

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Maria Montez's jaunt through Harvard must have given her a taste for the classics for Universal's sultry siren will abandon her sarong for a fling into chiller-drama in Edgar Allan Poe's "The Mystery of Marie Roget." Bet the Harvard lads never dreamed Marie would be bringing "literature" to the screen but since their life-sized study of the Montez's dramatic measurements on that recent trip, they'll probably be voting her to do Dickens next.

So far Maria's pictures at "U" have not held up with her off-screen publicity. She's a very sensational gal—I know, because I've watched her stage entrances into various Hollywood night spots and they are academy award winning performances. Also, one of our best-known glamour girls does an imitation of La Montez that is a knockout. Be that as it may, "U" thinks they really have something in the Montez girl—hence the chance for her to emote in the Poe chiller.

The mysterious Mr. Lanz whom Luise Rainer visited not so long ago at Las Vegas, is not her bridegroom, as many of us suspected—but just a friend of the family from Hungary.

Doris Duke Cromwell, lunching at the colony, was heartick that she was on the mainland, away from Honolulu, where she might have been of service—or at least have turned over her estate, Shangra La, to government authorities—if it is still intact. She has no word. It is unbelievable to those of us who have visited the tropical island to hear the disastrous reports. Just last summer we were guests of the officers stationed at Pearl Harbor and had luncheon. You can well imagine how relieved Mrs. Margaret Emerson is to have Mimi Baker Topping here. The Toppings spend most of their time at their Diamond Bay home. The George Vanderbilts (he's Mimi's half-brother and a brother of Alfred Vanderbilt) make their home there.

too bad about the Leo McCarey-Howard Hughes suit. Leo hasn't had a picture on the screen for over two years; "21" sounds like a press room clearing office with table hoppers spreading the latest reports.

MY DAY: Blackout Curtains For the Kitchen

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

LOS ANGELES, Tuesday.—We left last night with the usual rush of last-minute things which must be done. Three of us had supper in my sitting room before we left. With us were Jimmy, Elliott and two friends with whom Elliott had flown from the school in San Antonio, Texas. One of the younger men was head of the school and had come to Washington to attend a conference. The other two had just finished their course.

After flying all summer over the uncharted northern places in which we now have an interest, and after taking these present courses in aerial navigation, gunnery, etc., Elliott will be much better trained. It looks as though we shall need all the trained people we can get.

Our trip was smooth, except for one perfectly tremendous bump, which came just as some passengers were having dinner. Most of them found themselves with food and drink spilled all over them. Luckily we had eaten before boarding the plane, and so we only hit the ceiling and sat down again, surrounded by papers and books in various odd places. It took a little longer to tidy up the rest of the passengers than for us to retrieve our belongings.

Just before we reached Nashville, Tenn., word came to us that San Francisco was being bombed. We awakened Director LaGuardia and he decided at once we must make arrangements to proceed as quickly as possible to San Francisco.

At Nashville I telephoned and discovered San Francisco had not been bombed, but that a blackout has been ordered up and down all the coast, because enemy planes had been heard from the Army posts. All of us went to bed feeling happier that no real harm had come to one of our cities.

I like to get up with the dawn on this flight and watch the colors in the sky and the wonderful play of sun and shadow on the mountains. Before we reached Phoenix, I had my first cup of coffee and enjoyed the view of the country.

We thought for a while that we would have to land in Palm Springs, which is a three-hour drive to Los Angeles. However, the weather cleared and we were able to land in Burbank on schedule. Director LaGuardia and I may separate in Los Angeles. He will go to San Francisco, while I think it may be wise for me to go to San Diego first.

I shall use my column as far as possible to tell you what we plan to do in civilian defense in this area, for I think it may be useful to everyone. There is one thing which every woman can do to prepare her house for blackouts. Namely, arrange with black cloth, or heavy curtains, or even a rug, so that light will not show through a window, to make a room livable in a blackout. Preferably, it should be the kitchen, so that food can be cooked.

Be Wary of Proposal on First Date

By Lichty

Dear Dixie:

Some time ago I met a married man, who was separated from his wife and two children. I liked him, and had a few dates with him. He seemed to like me a great deal, and even asked me to marry him on the first date, although he said we should wait until I was a bit older. He acted as though he loved me when we had the date, but I asked him not to come back until he had gotten his divorce. It has been four weeks since I last heard from him. I do not love him, but would like to date him again. Do you think he cares for me? If he cared so much for me as he said he did, don't you think he would try to see me again?

WONDERING.

I would not take this man too seriously. It is possible that he may admire you and enjoy being with you, but the fact that he is married should be reason enough for you to be wary of his proposals of marriage and his declarations of love. If he is interested in you, and is serious about divorcing his wife, he will make some attempt to see you again. Until he does, do not make any move to see him. You may enjoy having dates with him, but I think it is unwise and I would suggest that you forget him. There are plenty of other young men around who are not married.

By Dixie George

TEACHER-PUPIL DATES ARE UNWISE

Dear Dixie:

I am dating a young lady and she is very nice to me. She is a teacher. I am a senior and am dating her secretly. I do not know why I am going with her, because I cannot take her to shows, dances or parties unless I go out of town, but I cannot drop her. The students are not allowed to date the instructors I have heard, but I do not know if it is true or not. My friend is just out of college and is engaged, but she has told me she is not going to marry. I did not ask her to tell me, she did it of her own accord. What do you think I should do? It hurts me to have to pass her by and not be as friendly as I wish.

SNILLOCEH.

The first thing to do is to make some inquiries about dating teachers. If it is against the rule, I think you better stop. Surely the teacher should know, and she should not be subjecting you to any criticism. Until you can get the student-teacher situation cleared up, I would advise that you stop having dates. As for her being engaged to someone else, I wouldn't let that worry me if I were you. The girl does not seem very sincere, for if she is being so careless about her fiancé, perhaps you may be the next victim of her talk. I think she likes you and wants to continue dating you.

GIRL'S INDIFFERENCE MAKES BOY TAKE NOTICE

Dear Dixie:

I have been going with a boy for about a year. We are engaged and plan to be married Christmas, but he still goes with another girl. What can I do about this boy, if he tells me he loves me and still goes with another girl?

I would not make any plans for the marriage until I felt sure that the boy had no other interests. Have you ever thought of going with some other boys? I think if I were you I would be a little indifferent to him for awhile and see how he accepts this reaction. Do not let him know that you are jealous, but let him know that you know he is not being as sincere as he should be.

High Necklines Are Smart This Year

By Lillian Mae

Pattern 4935.

The high neckline is so smart this year—and so becoming—as shown in Pattern 4935 by Lillian Mae. It's a regulation shirtwaister with a front-buttoned bodice that is softly gathered at either side. The yoke-into-panel effect is original, and the round collarless neckline is perfect for your "glitter-glitter" jewelry! Or use novelty buttons and buckle to give a jeweled effect. A Peter Pan collar is optional and may be made of a contrasting fabric. Don't you like the simply-cut skirt, the three-quarter sleeves? They may be short or seven-eighths in length.

Pattern 4935 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 1-2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Mrs. Cauthorn Fetes Lovely Debutante Duo.

A delightful informal affair of yesterday was the buffet luncheon at which Mrs. Edward Cauthorn entertained in compliment to Misses Margaret Harmon and Mimi Pappenheimer, lovely debutantes.

Assisting the hostess in receiving were Mrs. Forrest Adair III, Mrs. Bolling Jones Jr., Mrs. Howard McCall Jr. and Mrs. Howard Harmon.

The luncheon guests included: Misses Virginia Dulaney, Larue Mizell, Mary Frances Broach, Margaret Peavy, Margaret Winship, Sallie Cobb Johnson, Mary Hodgson, Keeker Newton and Caroline Yundt.

DR. AND MRS. HUGH E. HAILEY.

Miss Hunnicutt, Dr. Hailey Wed at Sacred Heart Church

The marriage of Miss Claire Hunnicutt and Dr. Hugh Hailey took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Father John Emmerth officiated in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends of the couple.

Vincent Hurley, organist, presented a musical program prior to and during the ceremony. The church decorations featured altar vases filled with white flowers and silhouetted against a background of palms. At the entrance to the church were large urns filled with white flowers.

Serving as ushers were Dr. Wadley Glenn, Dr. Marion Benson, Dr. David Smith and Emerson Gardner. Dr. Howard Hailey was best man for his brother. Mrs. Harry DuPre Jr., of Marietta, was matron of honor and only attendant for her sister. She was handsomely gowned in an afternoon model of leaf green crepe fashioned with a draped bodice and a four-tiered skirt. Her accessories were bronze, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Lute L. Hunnicutt gave his daughter in marriage. The bride, a beautiful and stately brunette,

Chi Rho Sigma Will Give Party

The Chi Rho Sigma sorority of Georgia Junior College, gives its annual Christmas dance this evening at the Shrine mosque. Two white Christmas trees trimmed in blue lights on each side of the orchestra will carry out the colors of the sorority. The balcony will be draped with silver tinsel and tiny blue bells.

Miss Marjorie Stanfield, the president, will emerge from a Christmas gift box as the snow begins to fall from the balcony. Each member will wear a bracelet of jingle bells. When the sorority song, "Stardust," is played, blue and white balloons will fall from the ceiling.

Officers and their dates are Miss Marjorie Stanfield, president, Bob Grove; Eleanor Hirsch, vice president, Dick Alford; Anne Franklin, secretary, Bill Nall; Ethel Shipp, treasurer, Carl Knudsen; Camille Litton, social chairman, Speed; Edw. L. Moore, chairman, Whittaker; Vank McDowell.

Members and their dates are Genevieve Barrett, Allen Shiver; Anne Betts, Hugh Schutte; Elaine Cole, Pat Sanders; Billie Couler, Dick Belotte; Alice Council, Aubrey Grady; Betty Crowley, Palmer Jones; Elsie Crutfield, Charlie Bass; La Verne Curtis, Jimmy Andrews; Lillian Daniel, Frank Dennington; Evelyn Davis, Tommy McPherson; Charlotte Downing, Norman Runyon; Evelyn Elington, Bill Roberts; June Fowler, Jack Lanford; Anne Gardner, Joe Gupert; Tiny Grizzell, Don Spicer; Mozelle Gross, George Upchurch; Margery Hovey, Marion Hulsey.

Also Margie Kinard, J. C. Tanner; Betty Lannons, Charlie Harrison; Betty Lester, Dean Blough; Elizabeth Lynch, Hammond Adams; Mary Ann Llane, Louis Griffin; La Rue McDuffie, Ed Pittman; Betty O'Kelley, Wayne Covington; Dorothy Perryman, Charles Richardson; Molly Puckett, Herb Wilson; Harriet Richardson, Avery Low; Lois Roberts, John Harris; Ruth Mary Shadow, Judson Moses; Natalie Shumate, William Ashenker; Mildred Fuller, Don Stoughton; Chester Crowell; Georgia Tate, Luke Darnell; Joyce Turner, H. P. Dancy; Mildred And; Bob MacMahon; Betty Whitmore; Bob Nisbet; Elizabeth Wiloughby, Gordon Hicks.

For the ceremony a winter beige costume featuring a one-piece dress and short fitted coat. The coat was fashioned with a nutria yoke and she wore nutria brown accessories. Her flowers were a cluster of white orchids.

After the ceremony members of the two families gathered at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Troutman, on Peachtree circle, for the reception. Mrs. Troutman was becomingly gowned in cedar green wool trimmed in bronze beads. She wore a large hat, and her flowers were purple orchids.

Mrs. Howard Hailey wore black with matching accessories and a cluster of purple orchids. Miss Jane Hailey and Miss Eleanor Troutman served coffee.

The Troutman home was beautifully decorated with evergreen boughs and vari-colored flowers. In the dining room the table was centered with a crystal bowl filled with pink snapdragons, lavender sweet peas and blue delphinium. The appointments were in silver. White Wedgwood vases filled with white similar flowers adorned the mantle. In the living room and hall bronze and yellow roses were effectively arranged.

Dr. Hailey and his bride left for a wedding trip to New York, and upon their return they will reside at the Hunnicutt residence on Inman circle.

Luncheon Honors Mrs. Wilbur Glenn

Mrs. Wilbur Glenn, attractive addition to married circles of society, was the honor guest yesterday at the elaborate luncheon given by Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn at her home in the Biltmore apartments. The honor guest is the former Miss Hilda Donnan, of Sumner, her marriage to Mr. Glenn having been a social event of the early fall. The bride couple returned recently from an extended wedding trip to the west coast.

Quantities of white and yellow chrysanthemums were used as the decorations throughout the apartment. Red berries in attractive containers added a Yuletide note and clusters of pine cones tied with red satin ribbon and holly were hung at the windows in the drawing rooms and dining room.

Assisting the hostess in entertaining her 100 guests, who were limited to the younger married set, were Mesdames Neal Conrad, Marion Kiser, Green Warren and Stacey E. Hill.

Supper Honors Bridal Couple

Miss Anne Skidmore and her fiancé, Lieutenant Richard Titus, were guests of honor last evening at the buffet supper at which Mrs. LaFayette Butler entertained at her Peachtree road home. Forty guests, including members of the Skidmore-Titus bridal party, were present.

A holiday motif predominated in the decorations in the dining room, with a tiered heart-shaped cake centering the table, and flanked on either side by red and white tapers in silver candlesticks.

A mound of dried hydrangea, ivy and silvered pine cones graced the buffet and red and white featured the color scheme throughout the house.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Richard Titus and Mrs. Lewis Skidmore, mothers of the bridal pair. Serving were Mesdames Julian Harris, Ben Shute, William Elsas and Athos Menaboni.

Misses Louise McCauley and Anne de Laoche cut the cake.

Power Shortage Over, Marquee Again Glitter With Lighted Announcements of Outstanding Entertainment Features for Atlanta's Relaxation.

By LEE ROGERS,
Motion Picture Editor.

Bright lights blazed again this week on Peachtree as the power shortage ended, but before they were well at work enticing busy workers to take a little relaxation, the Japs bombed them into a sober, determined mood which was immediately reflected in the entertainment world.

But Atlanta first-run theaters, and the night club spots, have arranged what appears to be fine entertainment for the week opening today as citizens were urged to avail themselves of a couple hours' relaxation from war nerves.

The life history of America's top soldier hero of World War I begins today at the Fox theater, entitled "Sergeant York." Loew's is offering "H. M. Paramount

Abbott and Costello, the zany comedians, swept Atlanta into their list of hit towns this week, making such a triumph that they justified a holdover, which Sam Kane is giving them at the Paramount theater this week.

The new film, which played the Fox last week, is "Keep 'em Flying," a comedy musical about the ground crew at an army air field, the romances of the pilots, and the jabs the two comic mechanics get into.

Also in the cast are Martha Raye and Carol Bruce. Miss Bruce was here in person last week for the film's opening.

While Abbott and Costello were becoming the top slapstick comedians of the year with their "Caught in the Draft," "Ghost Breakers," "In the Navy," Atlanta was warning to them slowly. That heat reached a favorite's peak with "Keep 'em Flying," their best to date, and that despite the outbreak of war.

Rhodes

Greta Garbo's new risqué comedy, in which she divulges portions of her anatomy from a bathing suit for the first time, opens a holdover run at the Rhodes theater today.

"Two-Faced Woman," its title, has as co-star Melvyn Douglas, who's the first time he played opposite Garbo. Douglas was billed in very small letters. Today he's quite a big kingdom himself. This is his third role with Garbo, who plays the part of twin sisters in an attempt to lure Melvyn into the scanty of a home.

Roxy

Score a scoop for the "March of Time." It's latest release opens today at the Roxy. The title: "Our America at War." Here is a telegram sent by enthusiastic producers to Manager Jack Hodges:

"Greatest contribution any of us can make war report is to help out across to everyone in America the solid truth that our nation is now united. Our people are fighting hard and we will win this war despite the treacherous stab in the back the yellow devils gave us at Hawaii. The great issue of the 'March of Time' takes on tremendous importance as morale-builder for your audiences."

"We suggest the billing: 130 million Americans, fighting mad, he pledged their wealth, their future and their lives to destroy the world tyranny that has assaulted the rights of free men... 'March of Time' shows just how the American people won the last war and how they can win this one."

The film feature on the Roxy program opening today is "The Maltese Falcon," with Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor and Peter Lorre.

Defense Stamps

Bought by Pupils

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 10—(AP)—Students of the Jordan Vocational High School here today gave up their lunch money to buy defense stamps and rounded up $100.

Every student in the school bought a stamp in less than an hour after the drive was instigated by the Student Service Club, a committee of pupils which coordinates extra curricular activities.

Members of the committee carried $115.25 to the post office to buy the more than 1,100 stamps and Jordan students immediately began boasting they were the first in the nation to go "over the top" for defense.

Two Valdosta Cousins Pledge $15 To Help Opportunity No. 1

By FRANK DRAKE

Two first cousins, boys who are 14 and 12 years old, were the first to lead for the defense of Alexander's old Richard, Opportunity No. 1, this Christmas, Atlantans, and those cousins are not from Atlanta, but from Valdosta.

Opportunity No. 4

Sure, you'll say, I could use $25 a month, too. No doubt you could and couldn't we all? But this is a different case. And because of that difference, Mr. B. and his 28-year-old wife and their 4-year-old son, Tommy, became your Christmas Opportunity No. 4, needing but $25 a month to see them through an aggravating, angling crisis such as might come to any of us.

These are the facts. Judge for yourself. Mr. B. is a carpenter, and said to be a good one. A year and a half ago he suffered a mild injury—minor at the time. He hurt himself at work, but thought it would be all right in a day or two.

Had To Keep Working.
At the time, he was off from work only a few days. But that hurt, injury kept recurring, and he was forced to take a few weeks, and then his condition just wouldn't let him. He would have to be off for a time.

This kept up. Mr. B. couldn't quit entirely, like his doctor told him he should, because he had to earn money. He had to make a living for his wife and tiny son. The doctor said complete rest was the only thing that would cure him. But before he had time to rest till cured, he had to take a job. He had to work. He could not stop for long. His wife and baby had to be fed.

That off and on work has been going on for more than a year. And every time he had to lay off, his financial situation became worse. Every time he worked, his physical condition became worse. It is a vicious circle for Mr. B. It is one that will end in his death, unless he has help.

Rest Will Cure Him.
Carpenters are vitally needed these days. There is work in plenty for those who can work. A few months' rest will undoubtedly fix Mr. B. up, for he can go back to his job. That rest is what is necessary to cure him.

Atlantans could assure Mr. B. of this chance for a cure by contributing the money needed to stabilize this small family. Help him this Christmas! Send a donation to Hugh H. Trotti, vice president and business manager of The Constitution, who is treasurer of the Opportunity Fund. Small gifts could so easily put this man back into defense production!

Misuse of Authority

By Officers Criticized
CAMP FORREST, Tenn., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Major General Robert C. Richardson Jr., Seventh Army Corps Area commander, declared today that many officers participating in recent war maneuvers were "either unwilling or lacking knowledge to use authority."

Addressing the commissioned personnel here, General Richardson called on soldiers to "put the nation above all—above son, brother or family if my own brother should fail in his duty. I would say, 'I'm sorry, but we can't have that kind of work in my unit.'"

This country is in war, now, a thing that can't be helped, but Atlantans and Americans must remember that the destitute can't be left to starve. They must be helped back to independence. Reds Continue Neutral With The Japanese Soviet Union Has Nothing To Say About Helping U. S.

KUZYBSHEV, U. S. S. R., Dec. 9.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The Soviet Union, deeply involved with Germany on its western front, so far maintains neutrality in the U. S.-Japanese conflict in the east.

Soviet-Japanese relations still are outwardly based on the neutrality pact signed last Easter, valid for five years, binding each nation to stay out of war in which the other is involved with a third power.

S. A. Lozovsky, deputy commissar for foreign affairs, reaffirmed this neutrality pact two weeks ago. Since then there has been no official statement on war in the Pacific.

Don't Criticize Too Soon

Critics of the Army and Navy in the Hawaiian attack will do well to wait before condemning too seriously the part played by the armed services.

The attack was brilliantly conceived and executed. It was delivered by a nation which has been at war for four years. It probably was directed by the Germans. We do not as yet know, and this is what makes criticism so idly silly, how many enemy planes were shot down or whether the bases from which they attacked—either carriers or islands—have been destroyed.

It should be emphasized that any attack pressed home in force by a modern airforce is going to take a heavy toll. No nation as yet has been able to divert a serious effort against a single objective.

The few dispatches permitted from Honolulu stress the fact there have been no new attacks. It may be assumed these are correct. Navy censorship is severe and would eliminate, but it would not distort. This means the bases attacked have not been put out of action and may be interpreted to mean that further raids have been rendered impossible for a variety of possible reasons.

The losses of which we know represent an old battleship, which will not seriously affect strength of the fleet, and a destroyer, in addition to planes caught on the ground and, of course, land installations of the fleet and ground facilities of the air force. Human lives have been lost. They will be avenged. In war one must expect the loss of human life.

The knowledge we have of the losses permits the observation that the battle fleet was, perhaps, not in Pearl Harbor and critics of the Navy may yet have cause to regret their haste in condemnation.

Hawaii purposely is heavily defended by land forces. It is a base for the fleet, an installation from which the fleet may operate and which at the same time must be independently defended by land forces when the fleet is not there. Generally speaking, in any time of stress, no fleet, and certainly not the United States fleet, will be found in port. It may be said that, if the fleet was in port, the Hawaiian attack will rank with the Battle of Taranto as a display of complete, utter ineptitude on the part of a high command. But no person with the least knowledge of the operations methods of the United States fleet can conceive this was so and, indeed, the little we now know of the disaster indicates it was not so.

The fleet will yet be heard from, and the final judgment of the counter-strategy of the naval high command must await that word.

How could the Japanese get within striking range of Hawaii without being detected? There are three answers. The generally accepted one—the snap judgment one—appears to be the Navy was caught napping. But there are two others, one of which sound second judgment will probably prove correct.

One is that the planes operated from island bases of Japan within striking distance of Hawaii. The third is that carriers sneaked down through the fog banks which infest the North Pacific at this time of the year. No naval surface or air patrol can insure against such an operation in the vast reaches of the far Pacific.

Our amateur strategists—in congress and on the street—are having a field day. It is their right, perhaps, but in this country we long have had experience with Monday Morning Quarterbacks.

Let's not tell the Navy short. From "boot"—raw recruit—to four-star admiral it is taught to fight the fleet. It eats, sleeps and works only for that purpose.

Thus far it has fought the fleet with a genius we know well from history's glorious pages.

The President's Speech

To many people the fireside chat given by President Roosevelt to the American people, on Tuesday night proved a disappointment. Not for the speech itself, or its style, but because they had hoped against hope there would be some good news about the situation in the far Pacific. The President not only had no such news to give, but he explained why no one, including himself, can yet have such news, and he sought, as well as he could, to prepare this nation for more, and probably worse, bad news.

There can be no denying these opening days of American active participation in the world struggle, are dark days. There can be no expectation, for the near future, of much else but further bad news. It is the initial test, of American character, of the resolution to carry on through darkest hours, calmly confident in the justice of our cause and in the ultimate victory which we shall win.

Yet, forgetting the disappointment in the "news angle" of the speech, it must be conceded it was a magnificent effort for the upbuilding of America's will to fight, to work and to sacrifice. It thrilled its hearers, not because of any new ray of optimism it brought, but rather because of the calm confidence and the steel-hard determination it inspired.

The nation found, last Sunday when news of the Japanese attack came in, a new unity. A unity of purpose that is awe-inspiring. It must now find a new and more complete realization of the strength of the forces arrayed against us. It must understand, as the President emphasized, that all three of the Axis powers—Germany and Italy as well as Japan—are our implacable foes.

The nation must find, too, a new and more complete awareness of the work each individual must do, of the sacrifice all must make. Workers in war factories must be prepared, for the sake of America, to work longer hours, to give of their strength and ability without stint, even as the soldier gives, even to life itself, on the field of battle.

Businessmen must learn that profits and possessions mean nothing in days such as these. Office workers must be prepared, cheerfully, to work after hours, in any of the many services that urgently need men and women volunteers.

The days of hardness are ahead. We shall all have to come to full realization that the easy things of life, the soft and pleasant ways we have known, are over.

It was to speed this steeling of the public will to struggle and denial that the President chiefly directed his words of Tuesday night.

It must always be remembered that, ever since the plans of the totalitarian powers for world conquest began first to emerge, a decade ago, it was President Roosevelt who read aright the foreboding signs. It was he who, many times almost single-handedly, cajoled and warned and led this nation along the urgently vital path of defense preparation.

His foresight, his words in those years now gone have been proven, by this week's tragic drama. We may safely follow his guidance and accept the call to the struggle for national life or death, now the days of crisis are here.

Two Mighty Ships Gone

There appears to be no doubt the British battleships Prince of Wales and Repulse have been sunk off Malaya by the Japanese. Winston Churchill has announced that fact to the House of Commons.

Now that we are actively engaged in war against the Axis, it must be realized this blow is equally as severe to us as though it had been United States ships sunk. True, the British boys who died with their ships are strangers to most of us and thus we are spared the agony of a new casualty list of 3,000 for our own people to scan with fear and sorrow.

But, as it effects the war, it makes no difference whether the ships are British or American, the loss is the same to all countries fighting the Axis.

The worst and perhaps most significant feature of the sinkings is that the Prince of Wales is one of Britain's newest dreadnaughts of the sea, a ship supposed to have been armored so strongly she was safe from any air attack. It was believed such a ship could not be sunk by these means.

If, as the Japanese claim, she did succumb to air attack, it means the Axis powers have found a weapon, an aerial torpedo, more powerful than anything previously used in war.

And it must be remembered there is not a vessel in the United States Navy so strongly protected against air attack as was the Prince of Wales. Which bodes little good for our ships if they are to be subject to like weapons against them.

Georgia Editors Say:

(From The Milledgeville Union-Recorder.)

A movement that gives indications of being one of the most worthwhile ever started in highway beautification was introduced at the Kiwanis Club recently.

Following an address by Supervisor G. E. McWhorter, a committee was appointed to create interest among landowners in removing eye sores from the sight of motorists. This would result in the removal of eroded, washed out areas that are nonproductive, and instead of seeing this wasteland, motorists would see plantings of kudzu, pine trees, and other soil-saving plants.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAY G. HADEN.

CONGRESS SEETHING WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Anger against Japan and determination to fight her to a finish were the sentiments outwardly dominant in congress on Monday, but behind the scenes members of both houses were seething over the question as to how the naval and air forces in Hawaii could have been caught so completely off guard.

Representative John O. Dingell, Democrat, of Michigan, cracked the latter issue open with the announcement that he would introduce a resolution calling for court-martial of the following officers: Admiral H. E. Kimmel, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet; Major General Walter Short, chief Army commander in Hawaii; Major General H. H. Arnold, chief representative on the general board; Major General George H. Brett, chief of the Army Air Corps; and Major General Fred L. Martin, commander of the Army air force in Hawaii.

Representative Dingell declared that he had been informed that the armed forces in Hawaii had been accustomed to long weekends off and that this practice was continued in the last weekend despite the obviously acute danger of Japanese attack. Dingell asserted that both Navy and the air force were completely surprised.

It is being bruited about that Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, took Secretary Frank Knox sharply to task for the Navy's seeming unpreparedness in the meeting with President Roosevelt at the White House Sunday night.

Asked as to the truth of this report, Senator Connally said, "I can't confirm or deny that one."

WHERE WERE PLANES? Informed earlier of a Japanese attack on Manila, Connally asked, "Where in the world were our planes?" He added, "Of course, when you're in a war you have to expect some losses, but I certainly hope the Japanese lose a heap more than we do."

Another senator quoted a high-ranking Army officer (generals never are loath to criticize admirals) as stating that the Navy had carried on extensive naval and air patrols westward of Hawaii during the first three days of last week. Japanese warships were sighted, this officer asserted, but they were moving southward, which led the Navy to believe they were bound for the Singapore area. Hence the patrolling forces were called in and were off the job when the Japanese planes arrived Sunday morning.

THOUGHT IMPREGNABLE Mystification occasioned by the Japanese attack is the greater because members of congress long have regarded the Pearl Harbor base as the most impregnable American outpost. Far from envisaging a successful attack on this stronghold, the congressmen were completely confident that the Japanese would not dare approach it. There was a belief also that the greatest point of American armed superiority over the Japanese was in the air. Therefore, the news that a swarm of Japanese planes had flown over the Pearl Harbor base and dumped their bombs with admittedly disastrous effects came as a great shock.

Rightly or wrongly, congressmen have leaped to the conclusion that the Navy was taken by surprise, and their tendency at the moment is to lay the blame for this at the door of Secretary Knox. An assertion frequently heard is that Mr. Knox has been spending too much time making propaganda speeches and issuing statements declaring the Navy's readiness to take on all comers, and too little time attending to the work of his department.

Mr. Knox is yet to have his say. It is remembered that, early in the European war, Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, came in for much the same sort of criticism because of the successful German submarine attack on warships lying in the supposedly impregnable British base at Scapa Flow. Mr. Churchill had his critics in the house of commons with a frank admission that the British had been caught napping and the Germans had staged a fine naval exploit. He offered no alibis.

STOLE HEADLINES Congresswoman Jeanette Rankin stole the headlines on the morning of the attack on Hawaii, and her best to repeat this performance by providing the only vote cast against the present war declaration.

Miss Rankin, a slender, flaxen-haired girl when she was sworn in at the beginning of the special war session in 1917, was the first woman member of congress. Also the declaration of war was the first issue with which she was confronted.

Miss Rankin had given no indication as to her position and all eyes on the floor and in the packed galleries were focused upon her as she rose to the floor to cast her vote. When she called "Miss Rankin," there was no response. Again he called "Miss Rankin," but the diminutive congresswoman seemed only to cringe deeper into her seat.

FLOOD OF TEARS The first call of the roll completed, the clerk called the names of those who had failed to respond. Again he called "Miss Rankin," and again "Miss Rankin," before the lady summoned to her feet.

In a voice so weak it scarcely could be heard, she said: "I want to stand by my country, but I cannot vote for war." And then she collapsed in a flood of tears.

Miss Rankin this time was dry-eyed and she voiced her "no" with a loud and confident ring. Although she was beaten for reelection, following her antiwar vote in 1917, she coined it into a living over the intervening years. She has spent her time working for peace societies and lecturing against war, at a lucrative stipend, and always when she is introduced to her audiences as the first woman member of congress, who lost her seat because she dared to vote against war, she has been applauded.

"The situation looks the same to me today that it did in 1917," Miss Rankin told reporters after the house adjourned. "As a woman I can't go to war and I refuse to send anybody else."

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Two Pictures Of War's Coming. During the last few days I have been remembering, with re-awakened interest, some of the impressions received when we were in England, in August and September, 1939, when war came to that country. Comparing these memories with conditions in the United States today, as war comes to this country, in some ways there is startling similarity, in others there is interesting contrast.

Of course, the outbreak of war did not come to Britain with the same element of surprise with which it came to us. It had appeared inevitable, and that we must come, for days before the actual severance of peaceful relations with Germany. England had had a previous expectation of war, at the time of the Munich conference, and the lessons of preparation she learned then were valuable when the new need arose.

England, too, realized without doubt that her people, her cities, were open to attack from the air. Most Londoners were expecting air attack at the very start of the war, but were divided in opinion as to whether the city's importance would make it a desirable target or whether, as an air raid defense, the city would be a target of attack. The Luftwaffe would clear its vicinity.

I'm talking, remember, of impressions then, not concerning myself with what later history has revealed.

British Calmer. The British public was calmer, less excited, than ours. There was, I think, no less determination and no less confidence in the ultimate victory, in so far as the average citizen was concerned. But there was nothing to remind of that spirit of wild, cheering enthusiasm that, in many countries, has marked the beginning of other wars. Grim determination, without much conversation on the subject, was the attitude of the average Briton.

The only cheers we heard came from some transports, loaded with British troops, setting out for France.

Striking contrast struck me when I heard the wild cheering from the nation's capitol, on Monday last, when President Roosevelt delivered his war message to the joint session of the congress. There were no such demonstrations when Chamberlain appeared

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tribute To NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—This living human document may bring me up on a charge of third-degree logic.

Clapper because it is fitting to be a tribute to my friend and colleague, Ray Clapper, whose editorial canned goods are distributed by the same firm that peddles mine. If so, however, no judge would give me worse than a dollar fine, suspended during good behavior, for I have had so little experience in praising writing that it probably won't be very complimentary after all. It might even make an enemy of him as happened when I thought I eulogized Knute Rockne as he threatened to resign from his job as coach at Notre Dame because the rewards of public life weren't sufficient compensation for such abuse.

I am probably the only journalist in the trade whose praises are scanned with care by a libel expert and I will admit that for many years at the big national conventions I was eaten by a secret envy of the Hearst crowd of seals who devote themselves so generously to mutual adulation in print that you had to buy the opposition paper to find out who got nominated.

Well, anyway, as I look back over the last few years I realize that Clapper was the only columnist in the trade who really felt the gravity of the Japanese menace to our country. Much of his work on that theme was necessarily pretty dull going, and I will admit, to my shame, that I sometimes threw him away with the inward remark "shak, oh, well, Ray was on tin, rubber, Borneo and the Dutch East Indies again and the importance of Singapore to us and the vulnerability of the Philippines."

Just Phony Danger he hammered on the subject of the Japanese enmity toward the United States and the utter ruthlessness of the monkeys of Nippon and the Hitlerian cynicism of their statesmen. To me, and to most other Americans, we were interested in menaces, Hitler was the one to watch and hate and the Japanese were just a synthetic danger invented long ago by Mr. Hearst, who never got credit for patriotic or otherwise motives in anything he did and therefore was accused of impairing our peaceful relations with an admirable nation for circulation purposes.

I assume Ray was getting his material from the State Department, and possibly from the President, because he plainly sensed the fact that the Nazis were almost monopolizing our attention to the east while the Japanese were preparing to strike us on the opposite side of our continent.

He is not a noisy writer, being little given to rhetorical rip-ups and never known to break out in an attack of the cutes, which may be a pity because possibly the very solemnity of his warnings militated against results. But, anyhow, the fact that practically all of us were looking the other way and yelling rude monosyllables at Hitler is certainly no fault of his, because he was right on the target all the time and I am afraid his information was altogether too sound on the subject of our stockpiles of raw materials necessary for war which are obtainable in quantity only in the areas which Japan has now blocked off.

We Were Trading I believe, too, that Ray occasionally tried to give us a wink to forego criticism of the government for permitting gasoline, oil and old iron to go sliding out of our ports bound for Japan, because we, in turn, were stocking up on stuff that Japan might deprive us of at any moment.

In the matter of hatred of, or war psychology against, Japan and Japanese only a comparatively few Americans, living on the west coast, had any preparation at all. The rest of the American people start cold, although, of course, the events of last Sunday and of the hours since have brought the country to a fast boil. Clapper, however, has been the fires of hate, though, but kept kicking us gently under the table and muttering, "Don't look now, but I think that little squinty guy behind us is carrying a knife."

Other newspaper writers may have touched upon the subject occasionally, and I have no doubt that among my many unread books on the power politics and enemies of the orient there are some which prophesied this attack on the U. S. A., but Clapper made a campaign of his warnings and the fault was ours that so very few of us caught the message of this press-coat Paul Revere. Old Mr. Hearst deserves credit, too, but he also deserves some blame for discrediting his own alarms by his fakery and insincerity in so many other matters.

Well, this, for me, is hysterical hero worship, but you know how very restrained I am in such things and I won't be surprised if next time I meet Clapper he lets out a yell that he won't take such lip off anybody and whangs me with a crock.

over here, now the danger looms, too, over us.

One primary reason for the greater calmness, the lack of nervous excitement among the British people was, I think, the already established government control over radio news broadcasts. There were such broadcasts hourly, but they could only tell us the official statements and announcements by government departments, hence we did not have to listen to innumerable rumors and wild guesses.

From the news columns of Monday, December 11, 1941:

"London, December 10.—A German warship has succeeded in running the British cordon in the North Sea, according to a ship captain who says his vessel was held up and examined in the Atlantic."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

THE SPEECH AND TOUMANOVA I had been back talking with Tamara Tournanova, the greatest ballerina in the world, when it was said the President's speech would be broadcast to the audience in the auditorium for the performance of the Ballet Russe.

The second ballet was on, Tamara Tournanova had danced in the first act of "Swan Lake." Perspiration stood in a little beads about her forehead and along her nose. She had on a dressing gown, an old one, and a towel was thrown about her shoulders. The make-up, which gives the eyes and that portion of the face about the eyes, a mask-like appearance, still was on. She still managed to look beautiful.

She is the girl to whom was given the jewels which the Tzar had presented to the great teacher of the ballet, Mathilde Khesinskina. Tamara Tournanova was given them because she, more than any other ballerina in the world, was carrying on the traditions of the Imperial ballet.

She is the girl who was born in a wagon as it rolled across Siberia, one of many carrying refugees away from the Russian revolution in January of 1919.

She was dancing at Shanghai when she was six years old and from there her parents moved on to Paris and then Anna Pavlova saw her. She became a friend of the small, intense child who was so intent on becoming a great ballerina.

"You might say I have no country," she said, "and yet this is my country. All of us feel so deeply what has happened. All of us are so depressed and so hopeful."

She went away to go ready for the next ballet which was to come on when the President had finished.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN When the second ballet was done the curtains closed and the loud speakers were turned on.

The members of the ballet came out on the stage.

Tamara Tournanova was there, dressed in her ballet dress and the satin slippers.

There were some there, half in costume for the last ballet, "Saratoga," and wearing tights and jockey caps. There were some in costumes from the ballet just finished. There were others in dressing gowns.

Some sat. Others, tired, stretched out on the floor.

There were wardrobe women. There were stage hands.

One member of the ballet, with a wig and a long false mustache, sat by a stanchion, the makeup of his face giving him a set, forlorn look beneath his grease paint and his wig and mustache.

It was a bit dim back there. Out front there was the brilliant audience. And lights.

Back stage there was, before the broadcast began, a whispering babble. There were Russian and French and Polish being spoken. And American. Here were people, almost each of whom had a story as fascinating as that of Tournanova and of Alexandra Danilova.

I never saw more rapt attention. Heads were cocked to get the words that came through the curtain from the loud speakers on the other side of the heavy drapes. No one moved. Their painted faces, looking up, were odd and a bit grotesque as the harsh lights up in the top of the high stage roof shone on them.

Here were people of many bloods, still, listening to the voice of Franklin D. Roosevelt, proclaiming faith in democracy, denouncing the raw, treacherous ruthlessness of the Axis gangsters.

When his voice ceased and the music of the national anthem came through the curtain, they stood stiffly at attention, ballerina, clown, dancers, their faces solemn, strained.

YOUR REALISTS There is no guessing what Russia, originator of the ballet, will do in this war.

We could use bases on her shores, a bare 600 miles from Japan. We could use them most effectively. We could shorten the war with them.

If Mr. Roosevelt can persuade the Russians to allow us bases, he will have accomplished a great feat of diplomacy.

If he doesn't, the war will be the longer. Russia would not hesitate to make a peace with Germany if she thought thereby she could remove the Germans from her territory. Your Russian is your real realist.

Meanwhile, the temper of the American people is encouraging. They are depressed and worried. They are not complacent. Some of the nations of Europe, conquered by Germany, were complacent.

It is well to recall that the Russian army deflated the idea the Germans would be invincible. They were the best-trained and, more important, the best-equipped, army in the world.

The Japanese caught us asleep at Hawaii through a debasing act of treachery.

It was, as the President said, a serious setback. The Japanese have staked much on a desperate effort to get control of the Pacific. If they do it will give them an advantage which will prolong the war.

The Japanese are not super-men. They aren't any more patriotic or more willing to risk their lives in battle than our own men. Not one bit more.

They got the jump. They still have the jump.

But they aren't super-men.

We'll get them. It will take time.

How much time depends on our Russian Realists and on whether we can halt this precipitate smash by the Japanese before it engulfs the Philippines and our fleet.

The Stock Breeder Is Not Successful If His Animals Are Starved Runts

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

How successful is mankind?

When we compare our present world with the kind of civilization that existed only a few thousand years ago, we have reason to be proud of our racial achievement.

Invention of the wheel and the lever led by logical steps to the vast equipment of machinery that makes life easier and more abundant for all of us. Invention of the alphabet and the printing press made knowledge universal and protected it against loss or destruction.

Our highways, free schools, hospitals, churches, railroads, factories, steamships and countless other benefits and conveniences are proof of our skill and learning and industry and decency.

But these are the ornaments of success—not proof of it. A man may acquire knowledge and wealth and yet be a failure as a man.

To measure the success of mankind, we must first define success. It is conceded that birds and animals are successful when they establish their kind in an environment where they can find abundant food and shelter and flourish and multiply. Any species fails, as many did in times past, when it cannot adjust itself to its environment and therefore is weakened by hunger and disease and hardship and eventually destroyed by its natural enemies.

We also are animals, and the first essential step in making ourselves successful as a race is the elemental one of learning how to live—the fundamental matter of making life secure and bountiful for our kind, so that all may be sound, well formed, healthy, well fed and well sheltered.

If we have not achieved this first elemental success, which even the lower animals have somehow contrived, our apparent phenomenal success is a sham and a delusion—like a silken garment, trimmed with jewels, covering a filthy and diseased body.

Have we achieved it? One glance at your environment gives the answer.

Stately buildings downtown; tumble-down fire-traps in the slums. Wealth and luxury for the few; poverty and privation for the many. Cripples, congenital disease, misshapen bodies, imbeciles, criminals, ugliness, destitution—everywhere the evidence of folly and wrong and stupid management or none at all.

Our race hasn't succeeded. It hasn't even learned how to live and keep itself safe and fit.

Dudley Glass

Atlanta has perhaps a lighter "alien resident" problem than any other city of its size in the country.

Georgia has always bragged on its high percentage of "pure Anglo-Saxon" population. Too much, I have thought, because an infusion of blood from some of the European nations might have vastly improved our strain. And I don't mean the Sicilians and the Levantines and the races which have furnished the gangsters and other criminals—members of the "Black Hand." I'm thinking of the Scandinavians. Yes, and the Germans—of the old days, before the Kaiser had visions of world domination. They were good people, those Germans, as anybody in the middle west will tell you. Where is there a finer city than Milwaukee, or one so free from crime?

I have been talking, in the last year or so, with many folk from California, which is overrun with Orientals. Their views have varied little. They have liked the Chinese as we southerners like the Negro. The Chinese have been hard-working, pleasant, honest. They have made good servants and good merchants. I have visited San Francisco's Chinatown—which isn't what it was in the old days. But it still is a big quarter. It has its own telephone exchange—just as we have Walnut and Cherokee—where the switchboard operators talk Chinese and English equally well. All the San Franciscans we met liked the Chinese. Their only objection was that they worked so cheaply they made it tough on "white folks."

But I have never met a Californian who liked the Japanese. California is full of Japs, despite immigration restrictions. The Californians have never trusted the Japs. They found them too polite, too smooth, too "slick." Efficient? Yes. Good servants? Yes. Successful fruit growers? Yes. Maybe too successful. Because they never overlooked a chance.

But Efficient

Friend in California pointed out to me a three-acre patch cultivated by a Jap and his family. They owned a truck—necessary in their business. The driveway from garage to street required only two tracks for the truck's wheels. Between those tracks vegetables were growing. No square inch of that three-acre tract went to waste. When the truck went to town every morning with its garden truck it didn't come back empty. It was filled with barrels of slops—for the pigs.

Don't let's kid ourselves. The Japanese are an extremely efficient people—and loyal, to Japan. Too loyal, I believe, for folk who were crowded out of their own land and were making a living in America, and even getting rich. My California friends said they were still Japanese and would be Japanese unto the fourth and fifth generation.

I am confident we will lick the Japs. Who isn't? But it is going to take time. Because the days of pitched battles are over. You can't settle anything by one supreme conflict of artillery and infantry and cavalry charges and flashing sabers. Japanese troops and planes and ships are scattered over a bewildering territory. It is like hunting down wasps. I don't know that the total destruction of Tokyo and Kobe and Yokohama would settle things. I don't believe the total destruction of San Francisco and Manhattan Island would put the United States out of business.

But, getting back to aliens in Atlanta. We have mighty few. The FBI, I think, has them all listed.

No statistics are available to me just now, but I think Atlanta has more Greeks than other foreigners. Though we have quite a number of Russian Jews. They have made good citizens, as a whole. We have almost no French, only a few German-born residents, few Italians. The Chinese have almost disappeared.

So Atlanta isn't up against the problem of huge colonies of foreign-born residents whose sympathies are with their home lands. Therefore, few Communists and their ilk. Oh yes, we have had quite a number of Communists "parlor pinks" among our own people. But I think what happened in Hawaii last Sunday has cured them.

Study the Globe

Most satisfactory war map is in the form of a globe—the bigger the better. It doesn't matter that governments have taken over countries and names have been changed. The nations—especially the islands—are the same shape and the distances are what they used to be before the Nazis and the Japs.

I like a globe because it shows me the relative positions of all the warriors. It reminds me that Russia is just a good jump from Alaska. It reminds me that the Japanese in China can be reached overland once the strait is crossed. And the Russians already are on that side. It shows a lot of things it is hard to grasp from an atlas map which depicts only

Of course, it would require rather a large and expensive globe to show the details of spots like Wake Island and Guam. But you can check those from detail maps in your atlas.

Military casualty in Royston. In which the victim seems to have been in luck. A soldier, he was riding in a "jeep," which has more engine than upholstery. It hit something and tossed Corporal Milton T. Beasley overboard.

So what? Corporal Beasley woke up in a hospital. Surrounded by beautiful dancing, hearing cigarettes, candy, chewing gum, magazines and autograph albums. His back hurt, but what cared he?

"I am a badly injured man," he insisted. "I think I am a permanent casualty. I don't think I'll ever get well enough to report back to Fort Benning. And if this kind of thing keeps up I don't care a tinker's cuss."

Rites at Cornelia For C. W. Grant, 89

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. CORNELIA, Ga., Dec. 10.—Funeral services were held here for C. W. Grant, 89, known locally as "Uncle Willie" Grant, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Ford, 826 Oakhill avenue, S. W., Atlanta, where he had been residing for some time. The Rev. A. Johnson officiated at the services held at the Cornelia Baptist church and interment was in Level Grove cemetery.

Mr. Grant was a native of Cornelia and served Habersham county 16 years as school superintendent. He was a Mason and a member of the Baptist church. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Violet Bond, of Alto, and Miss Wilma Grant, of Cornelia; three sons, W. W. and G. G. Grant, of Atlanta, and Dr. J. T. Grant, of Cornelia.

DEFENSE AID.

CAMP STEWART, Ga., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Did somebody say something about morales. More than 21 civilian employees have signed an offer to give the defense program their full time, including overtime and holidays.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

BIG GAME.

Warren Sewell came on up to the study Monday night, after the deacons' meeting, to tell me about his hunting trip in New Mexico the past two weeks. We had been talking about the world situation in the meeting of the deacons—how we might, individually and as a church, best serve our country and the cause of freedom—and now there was to be a moment of escape in listening to a friend who had been on a big game hunt.

Mr. Sewell described the long trek in a camp car from Dallas to Hot Springs, N. M., and then the last 30 miles into one of the canyons where they pitched their camp. At an altitude of 8,000 feet, they got their tent up just ahead of a snow storm. Scrambling around for enough wood to provide fire for the period of camp, they managed to get their fire going, their first supper cooked, and settled down by nightfall for one of those rare experiences in the midst of rugged natural environs. The dogs and horses came the next day with the guides, and they set out for bears and lions. I couldn't help glancing around in the study to see if the windows and doors were shut when Mr. Sewell started talking about bears and lions.

"We found lion tracks the first day," he was saying, "but the trail was too cold for the dogs to do any good. Our guides told us that the bears were probably hibernated, and that we might as well check them off the list. We saw numerous deer, but paid no attention to them, lest the dogs should get the idea that we were out for small game. We found where the lions had killed and partially eaten two deer and a steer, which encouraged us to go back the next morning to the same territory. But for two full days the dogs were unable to hit a hot trail. "But on the third morning, just about daylight, they started 'sing-in', which is the phrase the guides use when they know the dogs are on a hot trail. We climbed to the top of a peak where we could hear and see the dogs now and then, and at 11 o'clock that morning they treed. When we got to the tree, the 11 dogs were circled about it, and when we got within a hundred yards of the tree we could hear the lion growling and hissing and frailing the tree with its tail. The first shot missed the lion, and the guides cautioned us to be ready for any emergency should the second shot miss, but the second shot was perfect, and the 'king of the forest' hurtled to the snow-covered ground, dead. We held the dogs while the guides skinned the lion, and we put off to camp with the trophy of victory."

Made me feel right skittish, remembering as how my hunting consists of the lowly 'possum. I don't know, but I am inclined to stick to small game. Bears and lions needn't worry about any interference from me, yet awhile.

Bus Heads To Attend Regional Meeting Here

Officials and operating engineers of bus companies from six southeastern states will attend a regional conference here today and Friday, W. R. Pollard, of the Georgia Power Company, said yesterday. Approximately 75 will attend from Georgia, North and South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee. The meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel.

Mayor Roy LeCraw will receive the visitors and other speakers will include John B. Reeves, district manager of priorities of the OPM; Ross Schraef, of Kent, Ohio; and Merwin A. Kraft, accident prevention engineer, American Transit Association.

Operators of both city transportation lines and interurban bus companies will be represented.

John N. Green Offers Acreage to Government

Eighty-one years old, but full of fight, John N. Green, of the Moore's Mill road, whose father and five uncles saw strenuous service in the Confederate Army, yesterday proffered a 360-acre site in Dawson county, containing a waterpower possibility, for use in the present war. He has four sons and a son-in-law now in service.

Captain Howell Is Paid Tribute By Vet Chapter

5 of Remaining 11 Members Are Present for Exercises.

Five of the remaining 11 members of the last chapter of United Confederate Veterans in Georgia paid honor yesterday to the hero of the War Between the States for whom their chapter was named, Captain Evan P. Howell.

It was the anniversary date of the birth of the late Captain Howell, and the exercises were held in the assembly hall of the Confederate Veterans' Home, amid decorations of the Stars and Bars, Christmas wreaths and flowers.

Clark Howell, editor and publisher of The Atlanta Constitution and grandson of the late Captain Howell, told the veterans that "the same courage and bravery that you men showed in the '80's" will be shown by the men in the 1941 army and that "our united country will come out on top" in the present world war.

Also present for the exercises were three daughters and a granddaughter of Captain Howell: Mrs. Adelaide Howell, Mrs. George McAleiley, Miss Rosalie Howell, and Miss Louise Cramer. Leading women's clubs and organizations were represented.

Major General H. T. Dowling, commander of Camp Evan P. Howell, United Confederate Veterans, presided. Other veterans present were: Past Commander General J. R. Jones, Colonel C. M. Dupree, Colonel L. J. Snellgrove and J. T. Pittman.

Colonel Robert Avery told stories of the life of Captain Howell, tracing his deeds from birth in Warsaw, Ga., through the war and the Battle of Atlanta, his practice of law, his purchase of controlling interest in The Constitution after establishing a lumber business in

The program was arranged by Mrs. Mary Goudelock, superintendent of the Confederate Veterans' Home, and Mrs. W. E. Langley, adjutant of the camp auxiliary.

Use of Radio Facilities For Defense Authorized

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt authorized the defense communications board today to designate radio facilities for "use, control, inspection, or closure" by the War or Navy Departments or other government agencies with the objective of insuring "the national defense and successful conduct of the war."

The chief executive gave this power to the board, upon its recommendation, by means of an executive order. The White House said this step had the unanimous approval of the Army, Navy, State and Treasury Departments, and federal communications commission.

Atlantans Urged To Display Flag

Mayor LeCraw yesterday called on business houses, office buildings and private citizens to display the American flag as a "mark of patriotism and a symbol of victory during the present war emergency."

Pointing out that few flags are being flown and that the flag is the rallying point about which victory will come, the mayor said citizens of Atlanta should set the pace in "displaying the emblem of valor and victory."

"I hope flags will be in every home, displayed in offices, flown from public and private buildings as an indication of our unity and our determined purpose," the mayor said. "Atlantans are loyal. I think we can show our loyalty first by acts and then by proclaiming it through a generous display of the national emblem."

LIVESTOCK SALE.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 10.—Total sales for the semi-monthly cattle sale conducted at the Bacon street stockyards Tuesday were $4,724.38, with prices good for both cattle and hogs. One hundred and sixty-four head of cattle and 70 hogs were offered for sale at the auction.

MUST YOUR INSURANCE

FEDERAL ESTATE TAX?

ARE you paying premiums on life insurance that you think will not be subject to federal estate tax because you have relinquished all rights and incidents of ownership?

A recent ruling indicates that your insurance will be subject to federal estate tax, above the amount exempt if payable to a named beneficiary or a trustee.

In some cases, however, such life insurance can be freed from federal estate tax. A discussion with your life underwriter and our trust officer will prove interesting to you, and it may enable you to effect a substantial saving for your beneficiaries.

ATLANTA GAS LIGHT CO.

All Santa has to do is TURN the FAUCET!

UP and down chimneys... in and out of his sleigh... ever stopped to think that sometime during the night Old Santa might like to stop a minute to do a bit of washing up?

He can, quickly, in homes that enjoy automatic gas hot water service. All he has to do is turn the faucet, and out comes the hot water—as much as he needs.

The average Atlanta home using this modern gas service heats 10 gallons of hot water for one cent. It will probably cost less in your own home than you think. What finer gift could you give your family—than dependable year-round hot water service? Investigate today the high efficiency and reasonable cost of heating water automatically with Gas.

Gallon for gallon, it actually costs less to heat water automatically with Gas than by inconvenient, far less satisfactory methods.

Redlegs Sell Billy Werber To Ott's Team

Giants Sell Joe Moore and Morrie Aronovich to Indianapolis.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(P)—The New York Giants bought Third Baseman Billy Werber from the Cincinnati Reds last night in a straight cash deal.

The two clubs apparently had talked over the transaction before and the deal was closed in five minutes of conversation in the middle of the Palmer House lobby while newspapermen and other baseball men looked on.

Werber, 33 years old and a former American League star with various clubs, has been with Cincinnati for three seasons and was the sparkplug in the Reds' two pennants.

He was harassed by injuries last season and his batting average dropped to .240.

The price paid for Werber was believed to have been about $20,000, or $5,000 less than Cincinnati paid Philadelphia for the third baseman in 1939.

Later the Giants announced the sale of Joe Moore and Morrie Aronovich, both veteran outfielders, to Indianapolis, of the American Association, in another straight cash transaction.

Moore, who had been with the Giants for 10 years and had batted close to .300 during that period, played in 121 games last season and hit .273. Aronovich went to the Giants a year ago from the Reds and batted .282, playing in only 84 games.

Rebels Challenge Mozley Parkers

On the heels of the G. M. A. Midgits' protest of Mozley Park's synthetic claim to the national 110-pound football title, comes the Dixie Rebels to dispute Mozley Park's claim to the crown.

In a two-game series with the G. M. A. Midgits and Metcalf Pals, of Columbus, Ga., the Rebels have won and lost a game with each club, lost a close 7-to-6 game at Cedartown and last Saturday defeated the C. Y. O. club, from Cincinnati, Ohio, 31 to 6, in the second annual "Pee Wee" bowl game at Russell High stadium.

The Dixie Rebels announce they challenge the Mozley Park club to a game to be played on a neutral field. They are eager to test the cocky Mozley Parkers. Captain Grayson, of G. M. A., whose Midgits have played both teams, ranks the Rebels stronger than Mozley Park.

Feller Sworn In By Tunney

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(P)—Young Bob Feller, one of baseball's greatest pitchers, became a chief boatswain's mate in the United States Naval Reserve today.

He was sworn in by Lieutenant Commander Gene Tunney and the brief ceremony was broadcast by radio.

"There are many things more important than baseball these days," the 23-year-old pitcher said. "First we'll have to win the war to keep baseball."

He will pay a farewell visit to his parents at Van Meter, Iowa, and then go to Norfolk, Va., for six weeks training before taking an assignment as a physical director under Tunney.

Tech Grid Squad Resumes Drills

Georgia Tech's football team opened work yesterday for its invasion of the West coast and a game with California in Berkeley on December 27.

The work this week will be fairly light with hard drills scheduled next week before the team departs on December 19. It will arrive in San Francisco on the 22d. Hal Lamb, reserve blocking back, won't be available to play because of his ineligibility in the air corps. Johnny Bosch, veteran tailback, who holds a reserve commission, is expecting his orders any day now.

Evening College Fights Y to Draw

Georgia Evening College boxers fought an experienced Y. M. C. A. team to a draw Wednesday night with some of the finest boxing ever held at the Y. M. C. A. gym.

In the main event Ted O'Callaghan, of G. E. C., outclassed Ben Rhinehardt all the way with a stinging left jab. G. L. Thomas, G. E. C., won a wide decision over F. J. Poole in a fast and furious battle. Earl Page, Y. M. C. A., won a close decision over Ed Justice, of G. E. C. Curtis Cooper, of G. E. C., lost a close decision to Lawrence Bradler, of the Y.

Other matches were as follows: Jim Radway lost to Joe Love, Glenn Young, forfeited to Ed Johnson and Jack McNeill forfeited to Earl Coleman. Tommy Phillips, coach of the Georgia Evening College pugilists, was well pleased with the showing of his team against the more experienced Y. M. C. A. squad.

Grigger 'Cusses,' Gets Cooled Off

ROME, Ga., Dec. 10.—The gridding season here produced one incident that still brings forth smiles from rabid football fans.

After missing a pass near the sidelines a local player was heard in the stands to emit some words unsuitable for publication. An elderly lady was heard to remark that the coach should take the player from the game and punish him. A few plays later the lad was replaced and spoke briefly to the coach before gargling a swallow of water.

The woman turned to her companion and said: "See, the coach is making him wash out his mouth."

Nine Cities Send Lifters to Meet

Nine cities are represented by teams entered in the Southeastern A. A. U. open and novice weightlifting championships, to be held at the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. Weight lifters entered from Atlanta are: Perkins, Blackburn, Cane and Johnson, of Tech High school. The Dorcht Strength Club will be represented by Charles Dorch, Cy Dunn and Cliff Dildy. Georgia Military Academy, of College Park, has entered R. Brown, C. Edwards, Crandall, Boyette, Padgett, Layman, L. Brown, Osborn, Scholl and Norris. Macon entries are Northington and Barfield. Fort Benning has entered M. Marcus and C. A. Thomas.

Charlotte (N. C.) "Y" has one lone entry in Paul Sloop, but he is expected to bring back to Charlotte the 132-pound open championships.

Nelson, Winner In 1940, Ready For Big Event

Thinks He Has Good Chance of Taking 2d Title in Row.

By JOHN WILDS.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10.—(P)—Out of a star-dotted field of 213 starting play tomorrow in the $10,000 Miami Open, 1940 winner Byron Nelson put the finger today on golf's H-boys, Hogan and Heafner, as the contenders to fear.

Nelson himself hasn't given up hope of becoming the first player to win in successive years since Gene Sarazen took the rich event four times in a row starting in 1927.

"I haven't been playing much," the former National Open and PGA champion said, "but a lot of the other boys are in the same boat. I came down the same way last year and won."

"Sometimes a layoff makes you keen and ready to go."

"My practice scores, with the exception of the first round have been better this year than last."

Looking over the competition, Nelson quickly picked out two players.

"Clayton Heafner will be very good," he said, "and Ben Hogan is playing well."

"Naturally," he was quick to add, "I don't say that either of them will win. I'd be foolish to say that with so many other top-notchers playing."

275 to Win.

He predicted that a score of 275 or 276—four or five strokes higher than his winding total of 271 last year—will be good enough for $2,500 first money.

The Miami Springs municipal course was revamped last summer in an effort to make the going tougher for the pros, easier for the duffers.

Nelson wasn't much impressed by the addition of traps around the greens and the elimination of some short cuts.

"The difference is in the greens," he explained. "The weather has been warm and the Bermuda grass has been growing fast. It is stiffer and makes putting harder."

Clubhouse loungers installed Slamm'n' Sammy Snead as the hunch choice, pointing out that he won in 1937 and 1939, alternate years. There was support also for National Open Champion Craig Wood.

The Open is held over a four-day period, with one 18-hole round each day. It ends Sunday.

I'm Going Back In—Greenberg

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(P)—Hank Greenberg, former outfield star for the Detroit Tigers, said tonight he's going back into the Army within a few days and forget baseball as a career.

Greenberg, voted the American League's outstanding player in 1940, was inducted under selective service law last May and was released a few days ago because he was over the 28-year age limit.

"I'm going back in," said Hank, visiting friends here. "We are in trouble and there is only one thing to do—return to the service."

"I have not been called back. I am going back of my own accord."

Hank, who was reported to have received $50,000 a year playing for the Tigers, declared, "Baseball is out of the window as far as I'm concerned. I don't know if I'll ever return to baseball. If I do, all right. If not, well, that's all right, too."

out of the southwest and south. They would be Crain, of Texas; Sinkwich, of Georgia; and Dudley, of Virginia.

These three have made a lot of the picks, but in many cases one of the three had to yield to Frankie Albert, just because, as Brother Blake pointed out, the coast section had to be represented.

In making their annual All-Southeastern pick, sports editors of New Orleans, Birmingham, Nashville and Atlanta didn't name one player from the Mississippi State Maroons, conference champions.

They explained the Maroons didn't have a player worthy of being named. There wasn't any question of representation in their minds.

Ward Admits to Polly That He Loves Joy

SYNOPSIS. Polly McMurray is a raven-haired, bronzed girl of the wide open spaces. She is a senior at Frontier University, a college for girls near the McMurray ranch. Dr. Kenyon Thomas Palmer has just been named president of Frontier and when he arrives at the school he brings along his son, Ken, tall, handsome and in his early twenties but very bashful. Polly and her brother Ward take Ken under their wings and try to acquaint him with western ways. Ken has been granted special permission to become the only male student at Frontier. Joy Kathryn Boone, wealthy glamour girl and orphan from Bar Harbor, New York and points east has decided to transfer to Frontier. She makes a dramatic forced landing in her private plane on the McMurray ranch after her secretary, Bettina Carlson, bail out and floats down safely during a desert storm. Doctor Palmer takes an immediate interest in Miss Carlson and is anxious to make Joy content for the McMurray ranchman and trustee of the university, but Polly feels pang of jealousy when Joy demonstrates a climax of interest in Ken. The climax is reached when Joy tells Polly that she is in love with Ken and thinking of marrying him.

INSTALLMENT XXIII. Nevertheless he did not desert her, he and Sue. They were all together when the moment for unmasking came at midnight, and it may or may not have been chance that enabled them to be within a few feet of "Coronado" and the "Apache Maiden." Polly suspected that Ward had deliberately engineered it so.

Joy's mask, in addition to her theatrical face paint, had effectively concealed the one feature that might have been telltale if Ken Palmer had been a close observer—her eyes. Joy's were blue, even violet at times. Polly's were dark brown.

When Joy took off her mask, Polly saw instantly that Ken hadn't tumbled. He still thought himself with the other girls! Excitement was high everywhere now, girls shrieking and boys laughing, all making a roaring happy hulloaloo. But Polly's gaze was transfixed. She hung near a colonnade beside pots of artificial palms that were a part of the auditorium decorations, and started at Joy and Ken. She was close enough even to hear their conversation.

"Ken, you're staring!" Joy beamed. "Don't you like me better with it off?"

He opened his mouth, but uttered no sound.

"Am I not lovely as an Indian girl, sir?"

"Yes!" The big fellow nodded. "You—you—Joy! I thought—I thought—you're Joy!"

His consternation was real. But Joy didn't know that. She smiled a little at him, teasingly. "Don't tell me you didn't know! Oh sure, you thought I really was Pocahontas or somebody! How ni-ice! Anyway it's gallant of you to say so, Kenny. Wait a sec—I can have the grease paint off in no time!"

She fled from him, and he stood there frowning during the five minutes she was absent. When she returned, most of the grease paint was gone at any rate, and so was the black Indian wig.

"Her blond beauty is gorgeous even with the Indian skirts!" Polly McMurray whispered to herself.

Newspaper photographers had come onto the floor, and of course they discovered Joy Boone, America's Girl-Of-The-Year, she who already had brought a certain fame to Phoenix and its Frontier University. In a moment she and Ken Palmer were being spotlighted by the house electricians and flash photographed by the press. People gathered around by the hundreds, as usual where Joy Boone was.

Polly turned slowly away and found herself facing her brother again. Ward instantly saw the tears pooled in her eyes. He put an arm around her, squeezed her hand. His muscles were tense.

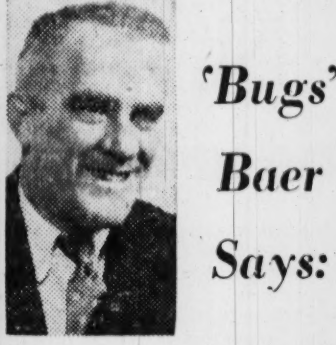

"You're sold on Ken, aren't you, Sis? Don't answer. I know it's so." He spoke ever so tenderly, right next to her ear. "Well, I know just how you feel. Jus . . ."

She whispered back, observing the emotional stress within her brother. "Ward! . . . You can't."

He nodded. "Can't I, though? You think I'm made of stone myself?" The Buffalo Bill wig, which she had made were gone. It was Ward McMurray who faced her, lips strained, eyes revealing more than his words did. By degrees the truth dawned on Polly. "We're in identical the same boat, I reckon, Sis. I had meant to keep my mouth shut, but seeing you—seeing you—well, damn it, I'm human! You'll never tell on me. I know you won't. Sorry I mentioned it, kid. Forget my part. I'll do what I can to help you out, though. You know that!"

He turned away, going back to Sue Rivers, but Polly's gaze followed him. In Polly now was the greatest heartbreak she had ever known. To have connived with Joy was one thing, because Joy might at least make Ken happy. Ken whom she herself loved. But to have connived unwittingly against her brother, to know that he secretly loved Joy whom she had agreed to help win another man—that made it all a double burden!

"I can't stand it!" Polly whispered to herself now. "Self-sacrifice may be ever so noble, but there's such a thing as self-loyalty, too!"

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Here are a few paragraphs on the jolly little Japs dated 20 years apart: They are amazing and prophetic:

Bugs Baer for December 1, 1921: "Under the 5-5-3 naval pact Japan scraps the cruiser Misuyu but keeps the battleships Mitsyu and Sinksyu."

Bugs Baer for December 5, 1941: "The way it looks, the best we can hope for now is a thirty-day option on the inevitable."

Well, the inevitable has sure leaped on the possible. My thirty-day option dated last Friday was taken up on Sunday.

Now, we are in it up to our necks, and it's no time for the politicians to make waves.

too! I've got to do something!" "The way I see it," Ward McMurray was saying, with feeling, "you and I have to keep our mouths shut, that's all. We are ranch people, Sis. Nothing about people raised in a ranch. We—we can take it."

Polly nodded. "Yes." "I never would have figured this'd come up," Ward resumed, almost bitterly. "A thing like this to me!"

"Why not? You're not different from other boys just because you are a cattleman. You have feelings. Same as I have."

"Guess so." "They were silent for several minutes. The hour was past midnight, but they had left the dance early. They had taken Sue Rivers home and themselves were riding back to their Paradise Ranch in Ward's car. Memories of this night's fresh man masquerade were not the happy, hilarious ones youth has a right to expect, but were so poignant as to distress the brother and sister here.

Polly tried to divert him. "The Fiesta del Sol dance next month ought to be grand, too. It's to be in the same place."

He didn't respond. "Tell you what," said he, presently. "Tomorrow I'll look up this Ken Palmer and set him straight, Sis. He can be made to see you for what you are, and then—"

SMITTY He's Not Talking Through His Hat

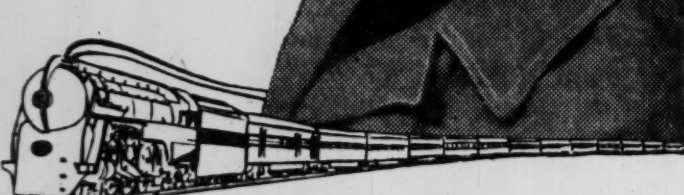

My hair seems healthy—

thanks to Thomas' says

John A. Hoyt

Veteran Engineman on New York Central's 20th Century Limited

"ALTHOUGH the passengers on the 20th Century Limited ride in clean, air conditioned comfort, the cab of the locomotive is still a place where a man's hair can get pretty grimy. When I realized that my hair needed more specialized attention than I could give it myself, I consulted a Thomas expert. My scalp now seems free of dandruff scales, and I feel that my hair is in a good healthy condition," says John A. Hoyt.

Every man whose hair is thinning rapidly should realize that his hair needs more expert attention than he is able to give it himself. During the past 20 years more than a quarter-million men have arrived at this conclusion, and have turned their scalp problems over to Thomas. Come in today and let a Thomas expert show you exactly how Thomas treatment removes dandruff and how it soothes scalp itch which dandruff may cause. Find out for yourself why this reliable, proved treatment is considered "tops" by so many thousands of persons. Consultation and advice is gladly given (in private) without charge or obligation.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21 and April 19 (ARIES)—The tendency will be to hurry through things, to answer too quickly and too shortly. Qualify and temper this tendency, else there may be much regret later. The best aspects of the day operate before 5:00 p. m.

April 20 and May 20 (TAURUS)—Between 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. favors general business and professional activities, matters pertaining to law, religion and philosophy. After 8 p. m., use special care in driving.

May 21 and June 20 (GEMINI)—The morning hours until 12:30 p. m. are likely to be a contradictory time, when your affairs seem to be progressing favorably and later meet with a dead end. It would likely be better to try and complete things before 1:30 a. m. or wait until after 12:04 p. m., when it is a favorable period to work along progressive lines in things that are solid, conservative, in intellectual pursuits, travel and undertaking new beginnings.

June 21 and July 22 (CANCER)—An excellent day for dealings with the public, literary matters and contacting superiors. A good day to ask for a raise. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 4:30 p. m.

July 23 and August 22 (LEO)—Before 5:00 p. m. indicates a time when you may favor the assurance that they will be granted. A good period to start new ventures, new business deals. After 5:04 p. m., your feelings may be easily ruffled and caution in all things should be the keynote.

August 23 and September 22 (VIRGO)—This is a splendid day to work on steady affairs, to obtain co-operation from people who are reliable and conservative. Old affairs that have been dragging may be consummated, and extremely effective work can be done on those things which are developed over a period of time.

September 23 and October 22 (LIBRA)—An excellent day to attend to personal problems and minor unfinished tasks. Be especially careful of any new proposition offered to you today and stifle any tendency toward extravagance.

October 23 and November 21 (SCORPIO)—Before 12:30 p. m. favors travel, quick decisions and changes. After 12:32 p. m. favors general business interests and for making harmonious arrangements with others.

November 22 and December 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—The hours previous to 9:48 a. m. favor attention to customary correspondence, routine matters and appointments. Between 9:48 a. m. and 8:20 p. m. favors making contacts with others and for successful diplomatic relations.

December 22 and January 19 (CAPRICORN)—The day does not especially favor new beginnings or assuming added responsibilities. The best aspects of the day operate between 11:20 a. m. and 1:06 p. m.

January 20 and February 18 (AQUARIUS)—Your judgment, especially in connection with financial affairs, close relatives and written matter, should be unusually good today. After 1:46 p. m. favors attending to matters connected with professional people, correspondence and literary people.

February 19 and March 20 (PISCES)—The influences that predominate today are considered peculiar, therefore watch your step and investigate thoroughly all you are doing before you become more involved. It will be to your advantage to become suspicious and skeptical, and be sure to let others know just what you mean when you speak or write. Be careful of health matters.

The soldiers and the marines gave Dinah Shore several bad moments at Wednesday's Eddie Cantor show. When Dinah started going with a soldier from Virginia and a marine from Massachusetts some time ago, she never dreamed that the twin would meet.

When they collided backstage at Studio 8-H, Dinah's first fear was that they wouldn't speak. When they fooled her by getting chummy, all the singer could do on observing them from the stage through the control room window, was to hope and pray that neither would say too much.

Henry Turns Santa

Ahead of Schedule
Henry Aldrich turns Santa Claus ahead of schedule and spends his all for a goodnight kiss from Homer's visiting cousin during the Aldrich Family program tonight at 8:30 o'clock over WSB.

Young Peggy has not paid Centerville a visit since she was a gawky 13-year-old, and she so intrigues Henry that he thinks his financial investment well worth while—until he catches sight of the telegram which she sends to her beau back home.

2,303 Enemy Aliens Are Seized by FBI Since Sunday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The government has seized 2,303 enemy aliens since Sunday, apparently completing its initial program for such arrests.

Attorney General Biddle, announcing the total today at a press conference, said that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had apprehended all those listed for arrest in this country within two hours after receiving its orders. In Hawaii the job was done within three hours.

Stefanie Held In Roundup of Alien Enemies

Princess Who Fought Deportation Seized at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Record says that Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Walden-Schilling was arrested here yesterday and sent to the U. S. immigration detention station at Gloucester, N. J.

The princess, who successfully fought deportation proceedings last May, was taken to the detention station with two German men, the newspaper said.

She was reported among 65 German, Italian and Japanese nationals rounded up in Philadelphia and eastern Pennsylvania by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

At the City Hall

Police Chief Hornsby ordered checked the department's arsenal and ordered all guns cleaned and prepared for any eventuality. Joe Vining was assigned to the task. All equipment will be put in operating shape immediately, he said.

Claiming the city-operated burglar alarm system is in competition with private business and does not pay the $100 a year city business license, the Southern Burglar Alarm Company of Georgia has asked the tax committee to relieve it of the license fee. The matter was referred to City Clerk Joe Richardson for investigation. Richardson said that the police system claimed a profit of $1,300 for the first 11 months of this year.

Judge Shepard Bryan, Atlanta attorney, Monday passed his 70th birthday, saying he "feels like a wildcat," and called at Mayor LeCraw's office with a group of friends to pay his respects.

The Atlanta Board of Education has appropriated $300 to assist in a health program being prosecuted at Washington High school, a Negro institution.

City council has been urged to purchase a lot adjacent to the East Lake school to provide room for expansion. The board took the action after crowded conditions were explained. No purchase price was mentioned.

A proposal to limit the number of football games Atlanta High schools may play in any one season to 10 has been sent by the Atlanta Board of Education to its rules committee. The recommendation was made by the athletic committee.

Resolutions deploring the recent death of Dr. E. R. Enlow, director of statistics and special services for the Atlanta school system, have been passed by unanimous vote of the Board of Education.

Joe Richardson, city clerk, is now preparing notices

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks lousy.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today! Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

Desert Troops Lift Siege of Tobruk Again

British Push Flanking Moves To Mop Up Tank Units.

AT THE BRITISH 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN THE DESERT, Dec. 10.—(AP)—British troops were reported officially to have lifted the siege of Tobruk again with a new junction at El Adem in the Libyan desert, and tonight another heavy tank battle was believed imminent west of there.

South African, Indian and Allied troops made the junction and also captured Gambut, a coastal point about 40 miles east of Tobruk. German and Italian units fled westward after suffering heavy losses, the British announced.

Officers said their troops had established a 30-mile-deep wedge from Tobruk southward into the desert, and mobile units now were hitting out on either flank in mopping up efforts against the Axis forces. A sandstorm raged throughout the area.

Twenty-seven German tanks were captured and destroyed at Gambut where they were found in a repair shop.

Although the RAF still was giving full and effective support to the advancing ground forces, it was conceded that German air strength was getting tougher beyond Tobruk.

General Pershing, 81, Again Offers His Services To Country

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing, commander of the AEF in the first World War, offered his services to his country again today to the "last ounce" of his strength.

Pershing was 81 last September and has been in poor health, but he said in a letter to President Roosevelt he was one of millions of Americans who wanted to be of help in the fight.

The chief executive wrote him: "You are magnificent. You always have been—and you always will be. I am deeply grateful to you for your letter of December 10. Under a wise law, you never have been placed on the retired list. You are very much on the active list and your services will be of great value."

Pershing had sent this letter to the chief executive: "All Americans today are united in one ambition—to take whatever share they can in the defense of their country. As one among these millions, I hasten to offer my services, in any way in which my experience and my strength, to the last ounce, will be of help in the fight."

"With supreme confidence that, under your calm and determined leadership, we will retain our balance, despite foul blows, I am faithfully yours, John J. Pershing."

Letter on Wall Reveals Youth Is in Marines

We Won't Let You Down, Railroad Worker Tells Pals.

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Tom Mahoney, 18, pinned a farewell note today on the New Haven railroad engine house, where he was employed, and quietly departed. It read:

"To my buddies at the roundhouse: 'I was born in America. I enjoyed more privileges than any boy anywhere in the world. I had free speech; the right to choose my religion. I worked where I pleased and spent my money where I pleased. Yes, I did enjoy myself. 'I had liberty, fought and paid for with the blood of my forefathers. We all realize that this God-given liberty which we enjoy is in serious danger of being destroyed forever. But we know that it will never be destroyed while boys like you and I can prevent it. 'That is why I left my job here and enlisted in the United States Marines today. As our beloved President said last night, if I have to pay the supreme sacrifice to defend our liberty, I will consider it a privilege. 'So, until I see you again, have hope in us; we will not let you down.' Mahoney's father served in the Navy during the last war."

Film Actress Engaged To Howard Hughes

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Faith Dorn, nee Faith Domergue, 17-year-old actress from New Orleans, said today she has been engaged since October to Howard Hughes, millionaire film maker and aviator. She said they did not plan to be married for some time. Hughes, who recently bought Miss Dorn's contract from Warner Bros. was not available for comment.
